IP granted rate hikes

The Illinois Commerce Commission has granted Illinois Power Co. a $105.7 million rate increase, which is expected to boost the average residential bill by at least $10 a month this winter.

The five-member ICC announced its decision at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Chicago. It granted rate hikes of 10.3 percent for electricity and 7.2 percent for natural gas. The increases are to be divided among industrial, commercial and the three residential classes of customers, according to a formula announced by the ICC, but not yet computed by IP officials.

However, residential natural gas bills for IP's 381,000 gas customers are expected to climb about $6 per month ($10 in the colder months) as well, and electric bills for each of the 525,000 customers will increase about $3 a month in the summer and $5.50 in the winter. That means that the annual bill of the average customer could rise between $100 to $140 over the next 12 months.

That does not reflect any increases in natural gas charges of the pipeline suppliers to IP. Those increases are automatically passed on to IP's customers.

According to Carl Mathias, IP senior vice president,

Indictment of Levee District leader sought

New information will be presented and the Madison County grand jury will be asked Jan. 20 to indict Walter "Shang" Greathouse, 62, Granite City, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District and a member of the county's Zoning Appeals Board.

State's Attorney Don W. Weber said Tuesday a state investigation of an alleged bribery attempt has just been completed by the Division of Criminal Investigation. Greathouse already has appeared before grand jurors.

In the same case, the jury has indicted County Assessment Supervisor James W. Barton twice. William Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner, has been granted immunity from prosecution.

Nichols says he gave Barton $1,000 in 1982 in the hope of influencing MESD and zoning action to expedite sale and hauling of dirt from Nichols' newly-purchased farm to a nearby landfill; $500 later was handed to Greathouse and then was returned to Barton and utilized to make political campaign contributions.

Weber has been urging the Madison County Board to fire Barton and has sent background information to the 29 members.

H. Jack Frandsen, Alhambra, a County Board member, said Tuesday he is considering presenting a resolution next Wednesday, Jan. 19, to initiate ouster proceedings. The board until now has indicated it would act against Barton only if he is convicted of wrongdoing.

Greathouse told the Press-Record this week that he is an excitable person and that this may have been a factor in why he "failed" a lie detector test.

He said the test, taken voluntarily, was highly confusing. "They told me that if I meant 'no' to say 'yes' and that If I meant 'yes' to say 'no.'"

Greathouse reiterated that he has encountered political opposition because of the progress made in ending Sanitary District debt and in reducing its staff to a needed and affordable size.

He and Barton deny violating the law. Greathouse in his latest reappointment agreed to resign if convicted.

Greathouse speculated this week that, if he is forced from office, his administrative approach will be lost and taxpayers will be the losers.

Nichols to be key witness

William "Bill" Nichols several years ago fell while carrying a stick of dynamite but escaped with multiple leg fractures when the explosive failed to discharge.

Nichols may have survived another explosive situation this year. He has been granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for providing what could be "dynamite" testimony against well-known public officials in Madison County.

The fall with dynamite occurred as he climbed down a Horseshoe Lake area embankment to reach a tile that helped regulate the lake level. He wanted to set off an explosion to clear the tile and

Damaging admissions

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Damaging admissions have been made by James Barton and William Nichols to Illinois Law Enforcement Department investigators, Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber has advised the 29 members of the County Board.

Since a judge has granted Nichols immunity from prosecution, the spotlight has fallen on Barton and possibly Walter "Shang" Greathouse.

All three say Nichols gave $1,000 to Barton, who gave $500 to Greathouse, who gave it back to Barton. The latter then contributed the funds to fall 1982 election campaigns.

Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner, says he was trying to buy county zoning approval and Metro-East Sanitary District (MESD) authorization for dirt to be dug from his property and transported to a nearby SCA Services landfill to cover debris being dumped there.

Protestations of innocence have been voiced by Barton, county assessment supervisor, and Greathouse, MESD president and county zoning appeals member. It will be up to jurors to decide whether Barton acted properly or wrongly.

Weber filed a court motion to have the trial set for Jan. 6 but it will take place later.

Exactly what role the state law enforcement department will play in the prosecution has not been spelled out by Weber, but departmental reports were included in his mailing to board members.

Interviewed Nov. 5, Barton first denied knowledge of a payment to Greathouse and then said he contacted the MESD for Nichols, to see if ap-

Mission: please steel buyers

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Although Granite City Steel suffered an $89 million loss in "real dollars" during 1982, it hopes for a break-even year in 1983 through an upturn in the economy, even more stringent cost controls, and strict adherence to its mission.

Edward L. Sambuchi, vice-president and general manager, outlined the new "market-driven, customer-oriented" mission of National Steel Corporation's Steel Group at Tuesday's Granite City Rotary luncheon.

It calls for emphasis on quality rather than quantity, although high productivity also is a factor in the division's plan for a return to profitability.

The mission emphasizes customers' needs and wishes, and calls for the steel plant to invest its time, talent and money in strategies that make it the best steel supplier, although not always the cheapest.

Brazil, Mexico and Korea aided by low wages may outbid American firms in making raw steel products; but mills like Granite City Steel intend to succeed

Elementary parents to speak

With Granite City school cutbacks the topic, six meetings are scheduled in the next seven days. High point will be a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 17, in the South High auditorium to hear citizens' suggestions.

Up to seven schools may be closed, services reduced, and more than 100 employees honorably dismissed.

Supt. B. J. Davis is addressing

Granite City Optimists today on potential cutbacks, and the Board of Education will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday to review audit information, cash and actual budgetary data, income and spending projections, and cost controls.

At 7 p.m. Sunday in the Granite City Township Building, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, Concerned Parents of Elementary Children will give their views on grade school needs and on how the school system should cope with its financial problem.

John Melford, an Emerson School parent, will chair the public meeting, whose sponsors include the Emerson Parent-Teacher Association and the Downtown Restoration Society.

Alderman Sikora won't run

Prospective Quad-City aldermanic and park district candidates have started to circulate their election petitions in the last round of filing requirements for the April 12 election.

The race will be marked by the retirements of veteran Madison Alderman Mike Sikora, who will step aside this year after serving 16 years, and the Granite City Alderman Margaret Nomi, who announced her retirement last November.

Other incumbents appear likely to run for the same Madison and Venice aldermanic seats, Pontoon Village Beach trustees slots, and Granite City and Venice park district commissioner boards.

Candidates filing with a slate in Granite City and Madison, along with all Venice and park district candidates, are required to submit election petitions by Jan. 31. An earlier filing deadline in December has expired for independent candidates seeking aldermanic seats in Granite City and Madison.

In a Press-Record interview Wednesday, Sikora said he will back Robert L. Grieve, 1005 Washington Ave., in his bid to represent Madison's newly-redistricted Second Ward.

Grieve ran unsuccessfully for alderman in the city's old Third Ward.

Sikora cited age as the major reason not to run again himself. "I figure on retiring and seeing the country," he said, adding, "I have loved every minute serving as alderman."

Grieve is the only new candidate on the Madison City Organization-endorsed slate of incumbents titled the Citizens' Progressive Party. That city's incumbents, who requested petitions, are Paul Ashford, for First Ward; William Gushieff, for Third Ward; and Donald Garrett, for Fourth Ward.

Madison independents, who have previously filed for a place on the Madison City ballot under the earlier December deadline, are: First Ward, Alfred Endicott and Frank Marsala; Second Ward, Thomas George and James Riskovsky; and Third Ward, Walter "Mick" Strange.

Petitions to run in Madison may be obtained at the Madison City Hall, 1529 Third Street.

In Venice, all candidates for city and park positions file this month. Only one incumbent has declined to seek re-election.

Venice aldermen facing re-election are Aldermen

First Ward Phillip Daniels, Second Ward George Mangiaracino, Third Ward George Lewis and Fourth Ward Victor Valentine Sr. The sole non-incumbent to request a petition was Samuel Hilton, for Fourth Ward.

According to City Clerk Ralph Brawley, petitions are available at Venice City Hall, Broadway and Klein Street, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. On the final day to file petitions, Jan. 31, the office will remain open until 5 p.m.

The Venice Park District will have one full six-year term and one two-year term to fill in April. The shorter vacancy represents the remainder of former Commissioner John Gardner's term. He resigned last summer and was replaced by Earl Hogan.

On Wednesday, Commissioner George Tyus Jr., whose term expires in April, announced he would not seek re-election. Hogan will seek the six-year vacancy, instead. Also picking up a petition for commissioner was newcomer Calvin Ratliff.

The Granite City Park District will have two six-year terms and one two-year term open. All three incumbents, who have requested petitions, are Commissioners Barry Loman, John "Jeff" Worthen and Richard Reinhardt. Also picking up petitions were Gary Grandtler, former director of parks and recreation, and a husband and wife, Jerry and Augusta Bristol.

Reinhardt will seek the two-year position originally left vacant by now Director of Parks and Recreation David Nolan.

Granite City Park District petitions may be obtained from district secretary Frank Rea at Skott's Jewelry, 1304 Niedringhaus Ave., 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

No Granite City slate has appeared to challenge independent aldermanic incumbents and newcomers. Those previously filing are: First Ward, Everett Morlen; Second Ward, Sam Whitmer; Third Ward, Paul Fisk; Fourth Ward, Warren Decatur and Phillip Miller; Fifth Ward, Lloyd Bailey; La Verna Corbitt and Barbara Elmore; Sixth Ward, Walter Milton, Ross Halbrook and Woodrow "Woody" Moad; and Seventh Ward, Michael Modrusic.

Pontoon Beach Village will elect a president, village clerk and three trustees in April. Clerk Mary Warren explained she and other incumbents plan to run together on the Continued Village Improvement slate. Incumbents requested petitions Monday.

Besides Mrs. Warren, seeking re-election are Village President Paul Bennett and Trustees Glen Wilson, Loren Madison and Keith Biggs. No others have yet picked up petitions.

Petitions are now available at the Pontoon Beach Village Hall, 3910 Highway 111, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

DeMolay Chapter enrolls members

Jeffrey S. Isenburt, Jeffrey A. Kopsic and Dwayne A. Tyler were conferred with the initiatory and DeMolay degrees to become members of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple.

The initiatory degree was conferred by the officers with David Medley as master counselor. Conferring the DeMolay degree were: Robert Ishum, DeMolay; Ralph F. McKinney Jr., Guy of Avernay; Jerry Singleton Jr., Hughe de Perale; Fred Trebing, Guidry de Conville; Kelly Smith, master inquisitor;

Jimmy K. Stuart, senior inquisitor; David Medley, junior inquisitor; Alan Forbes, marshal of commission; Keith Payne and David Smith, marshalls of guards; Scott Pursell, Tim Glendenning, Brad Wofford and Terry Perrin, inquisitor escorts; Antonio Narvaez, senior guard; Jim Porter, John Donjoian, Brett Corner, soldiers; Neil Mize, Lord constable and orator.

The mother's club met in separate session with Barbara McKinney as president and they served refreshments to the DeMolays following their meeting.

Debate lawsuit against contractors of sewers

By PAT HAY LUTZ for the Press-Record

Two members of the Nameoki Town Board admitted Monday night that they are not in favor of a lawsuit served by Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic against S. M. Wilson and Co. and G. H. Sternberg and Co. for damages to township streets during the construction of the sanitary sewer system.

The suit alleges that these contractors damaged several streets while installing sewers since 1978. Mehelic's attorney, H. Carl Runge Jr., lists the damages at $103,000.

Nameoki Town Board Member Helen Hawkins explained that statutes dictate that any suit should have been filed within one year after the completion of the sewer line. "The taxpayers would have to pay for this suit and I would have to see the highway commissioner lose the case and cost them a lot of money," Mrs. Hawkins said. "If the highway commissioner has waited too long to file, it may be thrown out and everybody loses," she added.

Trustee W. Lee Adams, who conducted the board meeting in the absence of Supervisor Harry Briggs, also voiced a negative reaction to the suit, but admitted that the board has no controlling power over the commissioner in this case. "As far as this is concerned, the highway department and the township are two different governing entities," he said. "I am against it because I think that the odds are against the highway commissioner in this case."

Trustee Joe Garcia advocated the suit, stating that he feels the contractors are responsible for the damages. "I get all kinds of complaints about what they did," Garcia said. "If this suit would take care of the problem, then I'm for it."

Trustee Don Wilson did not voice an opinion on the suit. Mehelic contended that the suit had been filed within the time limit and maintained his position that the suit had been justly filed.

In other discussion, Mrs. Hawkins requested that Board Attorney Irvin Slate Jr. research the possibility of imposing fines on persons who dump trash in non-specified areas. Her request followed a report which alleged that several bags of trash had been dumped near the railroad crossing back on Mockingbird Lane.

Township board officials had contacted the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and IEPA officials indicated that they could send a warning letter to the suspected offenders.

Mrs. Hawkins said that the board should have the power to pass an ordinance which allows it to fine persons whose name may be found on correspondence in illegally placed trash. "If there presently is no stipulation for such cases, then we should pass an ordinance to take care of this type of problem," she contended.

Change in intrastate phone bills

Illinois Bell will change its method of billing for intrastate (within the state) long distance calls that span more than one time-of-day rate period. The changes are effective Friday, Jan. 14.

Currently, intrastate long distance calls which extend from one time-of-day rate period to another are billed at the rate in effect when the call begins. Under the new plan, the charges will reflect the rate in effect for each rate period.

The new plan has been in effect for interstate (state-to-state) long distance calls since April 2, 1982. Some customers will see decreases in their charges and some will see increases, depending on the time of day they place their calls.

For example, a 10-minute call placed at 4:55 p.m. Monday currently is billed entirely at the full day rate. Under the new plan, the caller will be charged for five minutes at the full day rate and five minutes at the 25 percent evening discount rate.

The charge for a 10-minute call from Chicago to Springfield placed in this time period will decrease 37 cents, from $10 to $6.63.

A ten-minute call placed at 7:55 a.m. Monday currently is billed entirely at the 40 percent night discount rate. The new billing will reflect five minutes at the 40 percent night discount rate and five minutes at the full day rate.

The charge for a 10-minute call from Chicago to Springfield placed in that time period will increase 58 cents, from $1.80 to $2.38.

Proof of income will be required for free cheese

By ED GURNEY

Madison County residents in the future are going to have to prove a need before they will be able to receive free surplus government cheese.

People will have to pre-register and qualify for cheese prior to the date of distribution, under new regulations decided upon last week.

The rules were devised by the agency that administers the cheese program in the county, the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, in response to complaints about last month's distribution.

Last month was the straw that broke the camel's back," Jimmie Wilson of the EOC told township officials at a meeting in Edwardsville.

The date for the next cheese distribution has not been announced, although it is expected to be later this month. Wilson added that the county also will begin getting surplus butter to distribute.

There have been complaints about the distribution of cheese to the townships and about the qualifications of some recipients. In the past, the only requirements were that the recipient live in the county, that he or she had a need and that only one five-pound block of cheese be given to each household.

However, there was no definition of need, so that requirement was meaningless, Wilson said.

Under the new guidelines, applicants must show proof of residency in the township and be the head of household.

They can show their eligibility by producing a public aid card (green card), by proving they receive food stamps or by showing an unemployment card dated for that particular month, an S.S.I. or Social Security statement or check stubs (if anyone in the household was employed) for the past 90 days. The income must be under a certain amount, depending on the number of people in the household.

Township officials also will be allowed to use their own discretion to determine eligibility in other situations. Townships will set certain times to screen applicants. Those who are determined to be eligible will be given a card which will be brought at the time the cheese is distributed.

Each township will be given only as many cards as the number of blocks of cheese they will receive, Wilson said. It should eliminate problems on the day of the distribution, he said.

According to the guidelines, the allotment of cheese to each township will be based first on need and second on population, with the allotment changing from month to month depending on the employment picture.

The allotments drew some complaints last month, including one from Jarvis Township. The county's cheese shipment was reduced and so the allotments to some townships, including Jarvis, were reduced.

Wilson said that when the cheese distribution program began early last year, there was relatively little participation by the townships. "At the time, we found it very difficult to get rid of 12,000 pounds of cheese in the county," he said.

By last month, the need for cheese quadrupled because of unemployment, but the amount of cheese available had been frozen at 35,000 pounds (although only 30,000 pounds were received last month), he said. "I tried as fairly as I could to disperse cheese throughout the county," he added.

He said he got complaints for several reasons, including the changed allotments to some townships. "If I consumed all the cheese I was accused of consuming," he said, smiling. A woman in the audience finished that sentence, "you'd need a box of Ex-Lax."

Wilson said he asked the state agency handling the cheese, the Department of Public Aid, for guidelines. He said he was told the EOC should come up with its own rules.

However, in a couple of months, the state and federal governments are going to establish their own set of guidelines, Wilson said. He said the rules are an attempt to keep the cheese program "from going down the drain."

He said he feared that if the state received enough complaints from disgruntled township officials, it might drop the whole county from the cheese program.

Townships are allowed to take cheese and butter to the handicapped, elderly and homebound.

If they have cheese left over, they can find needy people to give it to or turn it back to the EOC for distribution to other townships, Wilson said.

One woman told Wilson that they would just be shifting the days on which there is a crowd. Now the lines will form on the days the townships start signing up people, she said.

Don Steinmeyer, supervisor of Omphreth Township, said he previously had to take off work every day the cheese is distributed. Now, he will have to take off two days, he said.

Collective bargaining course offered by BAC

A course designed for those working in collective bargaining or for the student who has completed a basic course in labor relations will be offered this spring at Bellevue Area College.

The objective of Collective Bargaining is to show students the practical, successful approach to develop an awareness of the alternatives to a strike or lockout.

Instructor for the course is Robert Mize, who was employed as a federal mediator from 1960 to 1972. He now works on his own in private mediation and is listed on the national roster of the Office of Arbitration Services in Washington, D.C.

Mize, a part-time instructor at BAC since 1972, has mediated such cases as contract disputes and processing grievances in industries, agencies and institutions. In addition, he has handled all types of public employee disputes on the federal, state, county and city level.

Subjects covered in class include techniques employed by top negotiators, obligation and legal responsibilities, the National Labor Relations Board and its functions and state and federal law. He also discusses bargaining duties, the use of data, negotiation guidelines, preparing proposals, negotiations at the table, use of mediation, grievance procedures and contract language.

The prerequisite for Collective Bargaining is Business 221, Fundamentals of Labor Relations, or work experience in labor relations.

The class will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. Tuesdays at Bellevue High School East, 2444 Benton St. The three-hour course is $57. There is a one-time $10 admission fee for students enrolling in BAC for the first time.

Registration is from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Fridays in the Registrar's Office, room 2360, at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Bellevue.

Don Kassing is coordinator of BAC's management and marketing programs and may be reached at 1-255-2700, extension 306.

STEAL SAFETY BOX

Items were being inventoried last week to determine what was stolen in a burglary at the home of Kathryn Pisel, 2444 Benton St. The master bedroom had been ransacked and a steel safety deposit box, containing papers, was reported missing.

Nichols key witness

allow the water level to rise in his part of the lake.

The outspoken land owner, who was a longtime operator of a net and twine company, has forcefully defended his interests in numerous issues related to the lake area. He is still doing that as the central figure in an alleged bribery and conspiracy case.

His current targets are James Barton, Madison County supervisor of assessments, and Walter "Shang" Greathouse, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District (MESD) and a member of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals.

Nichols developed a plan to create catfish-raising ponds and promised to make trouble if he was blocked. He was blocked, and trouble followed.

Barton has been indicted twice by a county grand jury; Greathouse has not been charged, but State's Attorney Don W. Weber says he may target him as well. Both men deny any wrongdoing.

"I was going along, making it easy for them, but if they make it hard for me, I'm going to fight," Nichols commented July 19, 1982, on the state government's attempts to buy his land to expand Horseshoe Lake State Park.

Speaking at a meeting of the Sewer and Drainage Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Nichols also threatened a lawsuit to force the MESD to allow silt to fill in to the lake. He said some of the silt was ending up on his property.

Unless he was allowed to improve the farm he had purchased as his new home, he would attempt to force the MESD to utilize Brushy Lake behind the Fairmount Park race track for water retention during rainstorms, rather than Horseshoe Lake, he told the committee.

"If I am going to have to sit there and pay taxes on my property, I don't want the levee district dumping their garbage on my property. It won't pass landfill standards. I sure don't want it on my property," Nichols said.

The plan to dig catfish breeding ponds on his new farm south of the pond drew opposition. Neighbors feared that the area, once dredged, would be used for expansion of the adjacent SCA Services landfill.

Nichols denied any landfill plans of his own but did concede that he had a lot more in mind than just creating ponds. He wanted the earth excavated from the proposed ponds to be trucked in large amounts to SCA to cover landfill trash.

He related that, in 1970, a request for topsoil mining by SCA on the property was rejected by the county after a zoning hearing.

He added in July 1982 that, when he had bought the property "several months ago," he assured neighbors his intent was to dig catfish ponds, not to create a landfill. He remarked:

"This is going to be my home. I do not want to look at a landfill. I have always looked at water and I want to look at water."

Nichols said he did not need a county zoning permit to dig on his property, but that he did obtain a permit from the Illinois Soil Conservation Service to dispose of the dirt.

SCA was willing to buy a lot of dirt, he said, adding that he planned to construct an engineer's bridge so the dirt could be hauled directly from his property across the ditch to the landfill without disturbing any state or township roads—and greatly shortening the hauling distance.

Greathouse had tentatively given his approval to the plan, Nichols contended.

Nichols said his request for a permit listed "topsoil mining" as the purpose only because Madison County has no other category which applies to digging lakes.

The Zoning Board of Appeals held an on-site public zoning hearing on Nichols' new farm June 29, 1982. Three objectors spoke and one of them voiced concern about blocked access to his home during the earth-moving process.

Nichols said he offered to make a new road for the neighbor.

A former owner, Irvin Mueller, spoke against the plan. And Nameoki Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelec told the zoning panel he was concerned about potential damage to township roads.

Nichols said bitterly that the zoning board "did not even listen when I told them I was not going to use any township roads."

The zoning group met after the hearing and the property could be zoned and the dirt utilized.

Nichols said he had a discussion with Whelan and Greathouse overheard when Nichols quoted the MESD president as saying that the property would have to be bought through Greathouse's company, to get zoning approved.

Nichols said he informed the SCA and it said it did not want to deal with Greathouse.

In December 1981, Nichols said, a relative of the Mueller heirs offered the farm. Nichols said that he was going to have to move from his property and felt that the farm, being only a mile from his property, would be excellent for him.

He made a $1,000 down payment and on May 20, 1982, took possession at a cost of $250,000.

He said SCA agreed to dig fish ponds on the farm and to use the dirt, paying him $2.75 per acre. He said he was asked as part of such an agreement to get a zoning permit for the ponds to be built and for the dirt to be hauled.

Nichols said that on June 4, 1982, he signed with SCA for removal of dirt and stipulated that he would obtain necessary permits. He met with County Zoning Administrator Paul Hawkins, who said no permit was needed to dig fish ponds.

Nichols said that in his pact, SCA wanted everything done properly so there would be no legal questions when it removed the dirt. Nichols said he felt it best that he still obtain permits.

He recalled paying $1.75 for permits for 100 acres and also paying $180 for a soil report from the county soil and water conservation district; the soil district report approved of the special permit as long as the soil used from the ponds was moved off the property immediately.

Going to the office of County Board Chairman Nelson Hagmann, Nichols said he was told the Cahokia Canal

ing and recommended rejection of the requested special use permit. The permit would have allowed Nichols to utilize about 100 acres "for surface mining of topsoil from this tract." The unanimous decision of the zoning appeals unit was forwarded to the Madison County Board, which later agreed by an overwhelming margin with the zoning board's negative recommendation.

The day after the hearing, Nichols said in July, Greathouse told him that the MESD could not grant a permit for hauling dirt over a stormwater drainage ditch. Greathouse said this week the permit would have been "automatic" had Greathouse been authorized.

Greathouse added that he consistently told Nichols the dirt mining plan "didn't have a prayer" of being approved because a previous application by another party had drawn extensive opposition.

Nichols told the Chamber of Commerce committee that the only reason he applied for a county permit was that he wanted to have it put in writing and made legally binding that he did not plan to turn his property into a landfill.

Since the site was zoned M-2 for general manufacturing, the only permit he needed was state authorization for disposal of the dirt, and he had received that permit, he said.

"I spent $1,725 for permits. I did it right, and I'm knocked down by the appeals board, so I'm fighting," Nichols concluded his remarks to the Chamber committee.

That fight, in the form of potentially destructive criticism against Barton and Greathouse, has now taken shape.

Copies of statements related to bribery allegations were mailed last week by the state's attorney to members of the County Board.

Weber several times has urged that the board fire Barton and again is applying pressure to the 29 board members.

If the Republican prosecutor could topple two powerful Democratic appointees from office, it would be an explosive news development. Assisting greatly in such an attempt would be Bill Nichols, still falling (bribery is a crime) but escaping relatively unscathed.

could be crossed with a road over a drainage tile but that he should check with Greathouse of the zoning panel for approval.

Larry Miller, who was county highway superintendent, was quoted as approving dirt removal by the culvert the method but not over an old bridge.

To cross the easement would cost $1,000, Nichols said he learned; after receiving a partial payment from SCA for expenses of dirt removal, he deposited a check and took ten $100 bills which he handed over at a Tri-City Shrine steak fry in Pontoon Beach June 22.

Nichols says he transferred the money to a friend, later named as Barton, and the understanding that it would be transferred to Greathouse to get zoning approval.

The land owner said he was told by telephone June 30 that the zoning had been rejected "71 the previous day."

Nichols said he asked Greathouse if he had received money sent to him and that he was told "yes" but that Greathouse could not guarantee how the board would vote. He quoted the MESD official as saying the zoning vote might have been affirmative if no one had objected.

Of the objectors, one, Irvin Mueller, lives five miles away and Commissioner Mehelec had no right objecting because the culvert was not a township road, Nichols argued.

He said the other objection was legitimate but that SCA had proposed to build an alternate route at its expense to preserve a farmer's access.

Nichols requested Greathouse be said to have visited the farm July 7 to look at the drainage ditch.

An unsuccessful effort was made by Nichols to obtain a reversal by contacting State Senator Sam Vadalabene, Nichols told the DCI. It was then that Nichols decided to contact the state agents.

Ambulance Service through Venice PD

Venice residents needing an ambulance are being reminded to call the Venice Police Department at 877-214 and an ambulance will be dispatched from Campbell's Ambulance Service in Granite City.

At Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council, Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. commented that some Venice residents apparently don't fully understand the procedure to be taken when ambulance service is needed.

The alderman reported having received a few complaints because some residents have called the Madison City Ambulance and were referred to Campbell's number.

Mayor Tyrone Echols stated the basic reason for using Campbell's service, rather than the Madison ambulance is basically the price. He said Madison is asking a fee of $100 a call, the same rate as Granite City, whereas Campbell is charging between $60 and $70 per call.

"The deal (with Campbell) is that, should a bill for ambulance service revert to the city for payment, we will

Bogus call made to GC pharmacy

A pharmacist at K Mart, 3645 Nameoki Road, reported receiving what he believed was a bogus phone call from a local physician's office Monday. The call authorized prescriptions for four controlled substance drugs, two non-controlled substance drugs and two sleeping pills, he said.

Becoming suspicious, the pharmacist called the physician's office to verify the prescriptions and was told no one there had called in such medication.

When a woman arrived to collect the prescriptions at 6 p.m. Monday, police were notified.

The woman said the medicine was for a relative and attempted to pay for the prescriptions with a relative's Illinois State Medical Eligibility Card. She was questioned by police and alleged she knew who had called in the prescriptions, but refused to identify the person to officers.

Don K. Co., 40 of 2557 Buenger Blvd., was charged with attempted theft by deception. She was released at 10:50 a.m. Tuesday after posting a $102 cash bond.

Choir today at Gospel Mission

The First Baptist Church Choir of Glen Carbon will present a special musical program at 7 o'clock services tonight at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St. Mrs. Susan Hopkins will direct the choir and her husband, the Rev. Everett Hopkins, will deliver the message, according to Mrs. Bethel J. Davis, mission superintendent.

Dr. George Rosenthal of Belleville will be guest minister at 7 p.m. Sunday services, with Mrs. Delores Boston, soloist, of the First Assembly of God Church providing the music.

"Loyalty and Children" is the theme for the current series of Sunday school programs being presented for all age levels at 9 a.m. Sunday. Last year, more than 100 were enrolled in the mission's Sunday morning classes, Mrs. Davis said.

Now is a good time for building

An odd thing has happened in the local construction industry — deflation.

Prices on construction have been rolled back to the level of two years ago and the prices of pre-engineered metal buildings are being quoted at the levels of three years ago, builders are telling us.

The "soft" market has caused some painful cost-cutting in the construction industry, from the builders down to the suppliers. All have been forced to reduce their prices by cutting their overhead costs, including labor.

Some firms are quoting prices at or below cost to keep their employees working and maintain a cash flow.

Interest rates have fallen and construction prices are down, creating a healthy atmosphere for those ready to expand.

All in all, it is another little bit of good news at a time when we need good news. We sincerely hope that everyone who has been considering building, expanding or buying seizes the opportunity to do so now. It would give a needed lift to the economy and the employment situation locally.

We doubt the financial atmosphere for the buyer will ever be better.

Some jobs don't require degrees

The Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics has come up with some interesting predictions. Among them is that of the predicted "hot 20" career fields in the next decade, 14 of them will require vocational training, not college degrees. That might provide some food for thought for Quad-City area students thinking about college.

The bureau says that data processors, machine mechanics (expected to see a growth of 147.6 percent), paralegal personnel, computer systems analysts, computer programmers, dental assistants and nurse's aides will be among those most likely to find jobs within the next 10 years. None require an expensive college education.

By 1990, there is expected to be a nearly 50 percent rise in jobs requiring computer skills. We have seen it in the newspaper business in recent years as all reporters have become "word processors" with video display terminals and all printers have become computer operators.

The demand for health care services will increase during this decade simply because people are living longer and will need more care, the bureau predicts. Anticipated rising incomes, combined with greater health consciousness, also are expected to send more people to their doctors more often.

Career schools have noted a 25 percent increase in enrollment over the last two years, partly because many parents cannot afford to send their children to four-year colleges and partly because the career schools offer faster hands-on training and produce experienced workers who are more likely to find a job than a college graduate with a well-rounded education, but with little or no experience.

It has been part of the American dream for a century to send children to college. Perhaps for some, the dream should be one of fast training and then finding a secure job.

Falling space junk is not funny

Keep your eyes up and be ready to duck. Another piece of space debris is expected to fall to the earth about Jan. 23 and where it will land, nobody knows.

Reactions ranged from jokes to genuine fear in the Quad-City area when a Soviet uranium-powered satellite fell to earth five years ago, scattering dangerous radioactive material across a 100-mile path in Canada's Northwest Territories. The local reactions were repeated when the U.S. Skylab fell to earth in 1979, crashing into Australia.

The jokes are starting again, perhaps to mask some real fears. The Soviet spy satellite now on its way down contains not only approximately 100 pounds of dangerous uranium 235, but fission byproducts which are believed even more dangerous.

The Russians say they have separated the nuclear pack from the satellite so that the nuclear material will burn up when the pack enters the atmosphere. The Pentagon says that may or may not be true.

Experts say the chances of anyone being injured are about one in 150 and the rogue satellite will probably fall in a body of water. That's reassuring.

Still, we would feel much better if the Russians had listened to President Jimmy Carter's appeal in 1978 to stop putting atomic material in space. Approximately 5,000 man-made objects are orbiting in space at the present time, any of which could spin out of their orbits at any time. Another estimated 15,000 pieces of "space junk" have fallen from orbit since the "space race" began, most burning up when encountering the earth's atmosphere.

It's enough to give us cause to look up, think, and possibly get a headache.

Rejoice, it's a 'labor surplus'

Secretary of Labor Raymond J. Donovan has come up with a new term for unemployment. He has identified a list of areas having "labor surpluses."

It sort of makes an area sound rich in labor. That is exactly what the Quad-City is, overly rich in labor. So rich, in fact, we hope to get on Donovan's list soon.

Contractors on the list from "labor surplus" areas get preference in bidding on government contracts. The idea is to put a portion of the government's procurement dollars into areas where people are in the most severe economic need.

Now how could an area like ours, with such a surplus of such a valuable asset as labor, possibly be in need?

With a class of sixty being graduated at the Community High School tonight, Principal Paul A. Grigby stated this morning that there is a possible enrollment of 151 incoming freshmen from the various elementary schools. Since most of the eighth grade graduates are planning to attend high school, he looks for the total registration to exceed the 1,200 mark next Monday when the semester commences. Superintendent of Schools Vergil Bufford is also expecting an influx of post-graduates. Out of the 60 to receive diplomas tonight, he confidently expects at least 30 per cent to return for post-graduate work, which will swell the enrollment to an even greater figure.

A ten-year modernization and remodeling program will be climaxed next May by the Press-Record with the installation of a new colored equipment, 32-page Goss Universal newspaper press, together with related stereotype equipment. It will be housed in a new 30x65 foot addition to the present building. Advantages of the new press over the 24-page Hoe rotary press that has been in use for the last 30 years include speed for earlier home delivery, larger page capacity, better reproduction, and color. Present net paid circulation is at an all-time high of 15,495.

"Except for the press and stereotype departments, the Press-Record has been recognized as one of the most modernly-equipped newspapers in the middle west," C. E. Townsend, editor and publisher, said. "Now there will be 'no exceptions' of any kind, and Press-Record readers and advertisers can be given the finest service possible. And we feel they are entitled to it."

Government agencies in the Quad-City area will receive tax rebates from Madison County totaling $420,022 under a ruling announced at Edwardsville Friday by Circuit Judge James O. Monroe. The order was entered in a class action suit filed in behalf of all Madison County taxing agencies after an earlier court decision held unconstitutional the county's system of withholding tax funds from the individual agencies to finance tax collections.

As tax collections got under way last summer by collectors serving as employees of the county treasurer's office, (Madison County Treasurer George) Musso announced an assessment totaling $1.4 million against all taxing agencies throughout the county. The assessment was based on 2.75 percent of the amount of taxes collected for each tax body.

Illinois Power Co. customers this morning were asked their reactions to the company's electric and natural gas rate increases, which were approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday. Here are their replies to members of the Press-Record editorial staff:

Alderman Carl Kittel, Granite City

"It's just another example of how the ICC has total disregard for the users of the utilities. I think we should have a referendum and put on the state ballot and let the people — not the governor — decide who should be the commissioners."

Shirley Willis, Brooklyn

"I always thought the bills were high enough. They're too high as it is!"

Charlotte Suhre, Granite City

"I feel the ICC members should be elected. I don't feel that we should have to pay for the building of an Illinois Power plant before we benefit from it. It's getting to a point when all of the utilities are constantly getting rate increases okay."

Gail Valle, Granite City

"It doesn't pay to keep the thermostat down anymore. Perhaps we need government control of the utilities in favor of the people. If the ICC is eventually elected, maybe their terms should be limited to two years, with no re-elections."

Avoid overcrowding at elementary schools

To the Editor:

I am concerned that our school board may misconstrue the very vocal reaction of the North High School parents as opposed to the area's elementary school parents' reaction concerning possible school closings.

The school board members have announced that they are considering closing four elementary schools to relieve the district's indebtedness, but as none of the 13 grade schools has been definitely targeted for closing, another negative reaction from the elementary parents has not been well organized.

I fear that because no grade schools have been specifically named that we as parents have not truly considered the educational burden that overcrowding could place on our children in these formative years.

As a parent of two children, one of whom will be in high school next year and the other in elementary school, I prefer that additional school closings be made at the secondary level.

Looking at the enrollment figures, I can support the closing of one or at most two of our city's grade schools in order to utilize some of the unused rooms in these schools, but I find four an excessive figure which I feel would result in class sizes that are far too large.

It is unfortunate when financial conditions force closing any of our children's schools, but I see the dilemma of the board and support their commitment to clear some of the district's indebtedness.

The educational foundation that a child receives in elementary school is very important to his continued progress in school.

Increasing class sizes drastically at the elementary level where the basic skills are stressed is not advantageous to the students.

The more knowledgeable and mature high school students should be better able to cope with less individual attention.

Keeping both high schools open to allow more students to participate in or lead in extracurricular activities should not be our main concern.

Our society is based on competition; giving our high school students more competition they will face in securing employment and attending college.

I sympathize with the emotional attachments of the North students to their school but feel that closing the smaller high school will distribute the sacrifices in our community more evenly than a plan to close elementary schools would. Students at both schools, from all sections of our city, would face more crowded conditions and more competition next year.

Don't forget, main task is teaching basics

To the Editor:

I feel that it is time for some consideration to be given to the closing of elementary schools.

This issue has been sidelined by other issues in the move to cut financial costs for the district.

The consequence of closing four elementary schools and having classes of 30 to 35 next year has not been given proper attention.

Our elementary school parent should be made aware of everything that this is going to involve on the elementary level.

Quite simply put, the more students in a classroom, particularly in the primary grades, the less time is going to be given for individual student needs.

As a district, we should be in the business of educating our youth. They must learn the basics in elementary school. If too many are put in classes, this will not happen. Teachers are not magicians.

They cannot perform miracles in an impossible situation.

We should not be willing to sacrifice teaching our youth to read, write and do simple math at the expense of a minority.

Leadership and athletic ability will be useless if our young people do not learn this basic education, regardless of which high school they attend.

At least, it is a choice made for quality education — a chance for my elementary children to learn the basics in a favorable teaching situation.

CARY EMBICK
Johnson School parent

Some in the audience did not back North

To the Editor:

Recently I attended the public meeting sponsored by the North Concerned Parents who opposed the closing of North High School.

According to the Dec. 29, Granite City Press-Record article announcing the meeting, it was intended for all Granite City school district taxpayers.

I attended the meeting because I am concerned about what the closing of any of our district's schools may do to the students of this community educationally, but I support the board's determination to try to operate the schools on a more sound financial basis.

Articles in the newspaper since that Jan. 3 public meeting have mentioned the large number of people attending the meeting and made it appear that all of those at the meeting were a part of the opposition to the closing of North High School.

I wish to point out there were some concerned citizens in attendance who, though they hate to see a high school closed, are not in support of keeping that school open at the cost of other schools in the area.

Comments from the public at the meeting were written down and handed to a chairman who then chose which ones he would read.

I hope that the school board members' decision on where cuts are to be made will be based on what they feel, after careful study, is best for all of the students of Granite City whether in elementary school, junior high school, or high school.

I hope that they will not make a decision simply because of emotional public appeals or political threats, or because closing a district building seems to invite less vocal public opposition.

Scott Wilson aids needy families

Scott Wilson, who holds the rank of Life as a Boy Scout, is working on a community project to complete requirements towards the Eagle Award.

His project for the community was a Christmas relief program for needy families in the Appalachians. Working through St. Elizabeth Catholic Church and with Sister Rosella Uding, religious co-ordinator, Scott contacted Operation H.O.P.E. which does relief work for poor and helpless people in the United States and all countries.

Mrs. Verona Devney, secretary of Operation H.O.P.E., sent the eight families from the Tennessee and Kentucky areas. She explained the families are desperately poor and any aid would assure them a happier holiday. Scott noted that some of the localities are rural that the addresses did not include street or rural routes, just the town name.

He co-ordinated the program by educating the grade school religion classes on the needs of these families. Sent notes to the parents and then assigned one family to each grade school class. A week before Christmas Scott collected all gifts and food stuffs and packed them to their respective families. S.M. Wilson and Company donated all shipping expenses.

The local Boy Scout has been in scouting for six years. He earned the Catholic Ad Altus Dei award and the Arrow of Light Cub Scout award, and 16 merit badges. Among these are the Handicapped Awareness, First Aid and Emergency Preparedness badges.

He attended Camp Sumner for three years and participated in the Leadership Training at Camp Sumner and belongs to the Leadership Corps. He has been a counselor for the Cub Scout Day camp for two years.

Through scouting, Scott has helped in community projects, participated in the Tri-City Chamber of Commerce annual cleanup, officiated in the March of Dimes Walk-a-thon and has helped in the YMCA of Granite City annual runners meet.

One of Scott's highlights this year is being accepted to attend the World Boy Scout Jamboree to be held in Canada in June and July.

Scott is an eighth grade student and is the son of Ellen and David Wilson, 12 Terrace Lane.

WELFARE PROJECT. Boy Scout Scott Wilson, left, is assisted by Sister Rosella Uding in preparing gifts and food items to be mailed to needy families in the Appalachia area in conjunction with Operation H.O.P.E. An eighth grade student at St. Elizabeth School, the local scout is completing requirements for the Eagle Award with the Boy Scouts.

Emergency medical training offered

Two types of emergency medical training will be offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during the winter quarter.

A class in cardiopulmonary resuscitation will be offered Jan. 19. Sponsored by the University Health service, the instruction is scheduled in Room 1412 of the Peck Classroom Building from 7 until 10 p.m. Registration is $5.

The training will be given by members of the American Heart Association and should be of special interest to physicians, nurses, fire and police personnel, rescue personnel and the general public.

Emergency medical technician training will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. in Room 0405 in Peck Classroom Building, beginning Jan. 19. Registration is $65.

This non-credit training includes 81 class hours and 10 hours of clinical observation in an area hospital emergency room. Upon successful completion of the course, participants will be able to take the national EMT certification test.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE at (618) 692-3210.

MEETING TONIGHT
The Down's Syndrome Association of Southwestern Illinois will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 tonight in the Region II office building in Edwardsville. There will be a film shown.

Special defender too costly?

By JIM SCHLUETER
Madison County is planning another attempt to limit the cost of contracting private lawyers to handle special court cases.

Cases frequently arise in which the public defender's office cannot represent a defendant because of a conflict. To prevent paying expensive private lawyer fees in these cases, the county last year took an assistant public defender from the public defender's office and made him a special defender.

The special defender was able to handle conflict cases because he was separate from the public defender, but judiciary committee chairman William Haine, Alton, now has another plan.

"The special defender has saved some money, but it is not the cap we hoped for," Haine told the county's finance committee last week. "Our purpose is to put a cap on contractual expense for the indigent accused."

Under the new plan, the county would abolish the special defender and instead contract three attorneys to handle all conflict cases for no more than $1,000 a month for each attorney.

Regardless of the caseload, only these three attorneys would handle conflict cases, which means the county would spend no more than $36,000 for contracting attorneys for special cases.

Haine said the special defender cannot handle all of the conflict cases, and the county has still been forced to contract private attorneys to handle the overload.

Although the circuit court budget includes $40,000 for contracting outside legal services, Haine said it is very likely that the county would exceed that amount before the end of fiscal year 1983.

The amount in the court budget for contractual services will be used to pay the three attorneys, while special defender Ted Berelski and his $33,503 budget would be transferred to the public defender, William Kinder of Granite City.

Haine said the county will never have to contract an outside attorney under the new proposal because the three attorneys must handle every conflict case or be fired.

Because this is the second plan in less than a year to reduce these costs, finance committee Chairman William Little asked Haine if the new plan would work. Haine said he and Chief Criminal Judge Philip J. Rarick were both confident it would limit costs to the county.

"The sum total of representing the indigent accused will be the public defender's budget and the professional and contractual services budget (in the circuit court), and that's it,"

Haine said. Judge Rarick was the architect of the proposal and said the judge already has two young lawyers in mind for the new posts. The finance committee approved the resolution unanimously and the proposal will now go before the full board at its Jan. 19 meeting.

Custodial care is not in Medicare

By OLIVER HOLMES District Manager of Social Security

Question is sometimes raised as to why custodial health care services are not covered under Medicare.

The Medicare program was designed to help people meet the costs of treatment made necessary as the result of illness or injury. To limit program costs, the law specifically excluded a variety of services, including custodial care.

This does not mean that custodial care is considered unimportant. In many cases, custodial services can help prevent illness or speed a person's recovery from an illness.

For example, homemaker services may help elderly people continue to live independently and can assure that medicines are taken on time and that proper nutrition is maintained.

In addition, many elderly people would benefit from custodial care that helped them meet their personal care needs. The question is: Given the fact that only limited funds are available, how may they best be spent?

Custodial care includes services that are primarily supportive in nature and which can be furnished by people without professional skill or training. Such services may include help with bathing, dressing and eating.

Custodial care may be covered under Medicare if it is part of the medically necessary care being provided to a patient. A person who is convalescing in a skilled nursing facility, for example, is covered for the custodial care that is an inseparable part of the treatment.

However, custodial care that is not an integral part of medical care, such as participation in "meals-on-wheels," is not reimbursable.

Medicare is designed to meet the most pressing health care needs which private insurance ordinarily does not cover. It cannot meet all health care needs.

CRIMINAL DAMAGE TO PROPERTY CHARGE
Jerry L. Ryan, 2219 Missouri Ave., was charged with criminal damage to property when arrested last week. He was released on posting a $52 cash bond.

The charge involved an incident at the home of Sherry Wyde, 3132 Rodger Ave., where Ryan allegedly broke a window with his fist when he was refused admittance.

Parents to speak

elementary parents are being urged to attend and react to the proposed closing of up to four grade schools, as well as a possible increase in class size.

Karen Brown, Emerson PTA president, is contacting other elementary PTA presidents to help widen public participation. Talks from the audience will be encouraged, but discussion of North High will be discouraged, since North was the main topic at a meeting Jan. 3.

The school board is being invited to Sunday night's session. Some of the parents plan to emphasize the importance of basic arithmetic and language skills for primary pupils.

Many parents are expected to speak at the board's public hearing on expenditure reductions at 7 p.m. Monday in the school auditorium at Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road. Seven advance texts had been received as of yesterday at the school office.

Those wishing to talk at the hearing will be called to the microphone after completing a testimony form and giving their name and address. Written testimony can be submitted in advance to the school district office at 20th and Adams streets.

No one will be allowed to speak a second time until all others wishing to be heard have spoken. Testimony will be limited to five minutes each.

The Board of Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 18, but will not act on budget cuts at that session. Instead, it is expected to decide on June 1983 cutbacks in early February.

Next Wednesday, Jan. 19, school officials will outline the financial outlook at a Rotary prayer breakfast.

Supl. Davis said this week the district truly wants to hear constructive ideas from the public at the Jan. 17 hearing.

The board alone has the authority to structure the schools and staffs for the 1983-84 year but wants as much input as possible from citizens, students, parents, employees and taxpayers, he added.

As soon as firm plans have been made by the board, the administrative staff will prepare detailed recommendations on attendance boundaries, student scheduling and personnel assignments.

gathering was told.

Sambuchi voices hope that industry wage bargainers will devise proposals more acceptable to employees than the last two rejected by union local presidents.

He said plants like Granite City Steel need 12-month performance matching or exceeding their best month, and that to help achieve this there will be greater opportunities for workers to express themselves and participate in decision-making.

Open communications, trust and teamwork are going to be emphasized at all levels "with the goal of attaining efficiency and excellence, he pledged.

Responding to questions, the speaker said there is little expectation of "hedge buying" as the contract expiration nears, although this may be a slight stimulus to sales; instead, there is concern that customers, including General Motors, may buy steel overseas if it appears that U.S. production may be interrupted.

Sambuchi was introduced by Jim Rush, program chairman. Rotary President Tom Thebeau presided.

Sambuchi visualizes some improvement in the general economy in the second quarter of 1983, and hopes to supply steel to A. O. Smith Corp. when Smith starts its Granite City automotive products plant in 1985.

A positive approach is to be taken to tailor production to the specific requirements of customers, but uncertainties nevertheless continue to cloud the outlook, the speaker said.

Chief uncertainties along with the recession are the future of the Weirton, W. Va., plant, which National Steel hopes to sell to the Weirton employees, and 1983's eight-company steelworker negotiations for a contract to replace the one expiring July 31.

Historical society hears of early days in Venice

Early history of this area was the topic at the January meeting of the Old Six Mile Historical Society at Tri-Mor Bowl. President Don Gargac called the meeting to order with about 40 persons in attendance.

It was announced that the society now is a not-for-profit corporation with all dues and gifts tax deductible. It also was announced that an interest-earning museum fund has been established with a beginning balance of $4,378.53. All memorials, patron memberships and business memberships will be deposited in this account. Also, all profits from society projects are earmarked for the fund.

Mrs. Georgia Engleke, program chairman, introduced Miss Marguerite Barker, a retired Niedringhaus School teacher, who spoke of the early days in the Tri-Cities. Having lived in the area all of her life, she was well-qualified to discuss the subject. Mrs. Engleke said, "At the beginning of Mrs. Barker's talk, she explained various older items she had brought, including a buffalo robe, antique hats, cups and rattles, old photographs of early farms and pictures of groups."

Miss Barker said the Tri-Cities area was noted for fertile land, frequently enriched by the Mississippi River during floods. Most of the area is Granitic City was called Nameoki Township and Venice was the land lying between Nameoki and the river. The township of Venice was settled about 1804. Early businessmen in Venice included Robert McDow, who erected a horse mill, and John Anthony, who established a skiff ferry to St. Louis. Matthew Kerr ran a horse ferry between Venice and St. Louis. The ferries received a great deal of business from travelers on the National Road coming from the east, which ended in Venice. Another resident who came from Pennsylvania was Abraham Sippy. He fathered 17 children and most were active in business.

Early Baptist missionaries who proselytized in the home of Dr. Caldwell were the Rev. Chance and the Rev. Jones. A small Methodist Church was established in Venice on Broadway, as well as a Catholic church and school.

The village of Venice was plotted by Dr. Campbell and Charles Stamps in 1841 and was incorporated in 1873. Madison was incorporated in 1891 and Granite City in 1896. The first Venice trustees were Henry Robinson, Joseph Froehly, Theodore Sobel, Francis McCambridge, William Roberts, John Kaseberg and the clerk, Thomas Kinder.

Miss Barker's ancestors were the Kohl and Nieman families. Andrew Kohl, a carpenter from Germany, arrived about 1850. He lost his wife in the cholera epidemic and had three children depending on him. Andrew's sisters took the two girls to raise, but Miss Barker's grandmother, who was taken to Nauvoo, had to do all the cooking, housework and mending. She slept in the barn and frequently found snow on her bed in the mornings. She tried to secure extra money for something she needed by cutting off her hair and selling it. Generally, however, her aunt took the money.

Several years passed before her brother found out where she was and rode a horse to Nauvoo to persuade her to come keep house for him and her father. She was happy to do so and received kind treatment. Later, she was able to provide funds for her brother to go into business and another young man, Gus Nieman, invested in the business with him. Mr. Nieman married the sister and Miss Barker's mother was one of their offspring.

The Kohl-Nieman partnership entered several ventures and expanded into Madison and Granite City as they became involved in banks, supply houses and various civic activities, as well as the lodges and school board. They were especially interested in the McKinley Bridge, built by the Illinois Traction Co. It was opened November 10, 1910, and was named for the president of Illinois Traction Co., who also was a U.S. senator. Mr. Nieman has a bet about the completion date. The loser had to push the other end of the bridge on wheels. This they did on the opening day of the bridge, but Miss Barker could not recall who pushed whom.

Miss Barker's mother attended the Methodist church in Venice until she was grown and later played the organ and taught Sunday School in the Granite City church. The church was the center of the social activities and, after the evening services, the young men always "looped the loop" with the girls. Since there were only two main streets in Venice, the young men took the young women home by walking down one street and "looping" back up the other street. Miss Barker's mother met her future husband during a five-year period of this looping.

The flood of 1903, according to Miss Barker, was one of the most colorful and tragic events in Venice's history. She said their house in Venice had plugs in the floor which could be pulled out so the water could go through easier and prevent the foundation from being damaged. When the water was approaching, all the furniture would be moved to the second floor, along with the carpets. Then they would open all the doors, windows and the water would surge through. Outside, the wooden sidewalks had to be tied to the electric poles to keep them from floating off. The streets were wooden blocks and they bucked and floated after every rain. In spite of the small levees, the 1903 flood lacked only two or three feet of being as damaging as the 1844 flood.

Indians were in the area, but not much was said about them. Near the present city of Brooklyn there was a slaughter house near a stream which, Miss Barker says, ran red with blood when she was young. The area was called Bloody Hollow. Her grandmother told her it was not from the slaughtering, but because of an Indian massacre which had occurred there.

It took courage, as well as endurance, to settle a rugged country and many early settlers were of German descent. Miss Barker closed with a story involving herself as a young child. Her grandfather frequently took her to Schuman's drug store on Main Street for ice cream. Often, she was being carried in her grandfather's arms and would be told to say "dankaschoen" for the ice cream, meaning "thank you." Since Mr. Schuman had lost most of his hair, Miss Barker thought she was saying "donkey shame" to the bald head and would refuse to say it.

Miss Barker said the qualities found in the men and women who withstood

YOUTH INVOLVED IN 3 INCIDENTS

Granite City officers went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center during the weekend to talk with a youth who was having sutures administered to close a cut over his left eye and reported having been beaten while attending a party in the 2400 block of Washington Avenue.

Officers talked with people at the party, who were unsure who had been beaten or the assailant's identity, but said there had been a fight outside the residence.

About two hours later, another resident of the 2400 block of Washington Avenue called police and said the same youth who reported being injured had been at that dwelling and broke a window in an apartment. A small child was sleeping on a couch beneath the window at the time, he said.

In a second report, received about the same time, a resident of the 2100 block of East 24th Street said the same youth came to her apartment looking for someone and allegedly kicked open a door when she refused to open it.

The 16-year-old youth, who allegedly was involved in all three incidents, was brought to police headquarters by his mother and charged with two counts of criminal damage to property. He was released to a parent on a notice to appear for a juvenile hearing at a later date.

Fat bad for health, appearance, long life

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

For all who made a New Year's resolution to lose weight, here are some reasons why this is one resolution you should keep.

There is an old statement, "The longer the belt, the shorter the life." Not only will your personal appearance be improved if you lose excess fat, but you greatly increase your chances of living longer.

What many people don't realize is that for all the fat they can see on their body, they have that much fat inside their body that they cannot see — especially in the hips and thighs in women and in the abdomen in both men and women.

When a person starts gaining weight, the gain shows first in the abdomen. As the amount of fat increases, it begins to crowd the internal organs. Eventually, something has to give.

That something is usually the stomach, and this often leads to digestive problems, such as a burning sensation in the pit of the stomach.

Gas, belching and other signs of a hiatal hernia are also frequent symptoms.

A hiatal hernia is a part of the stomach pushing up into the hole that is the opening between the chest and the abdomen — the only opening into the abdominal cavity.

Normally, that hole is small, but as we age, it stretches. If fat accumulates in the abdomen, it pushes the stomach into the hole. As a result, the mechanism that keeps the opening closed quits working as it should, and acid digestive juices back up into the esophagus.

Excess fat also crowds the lungs. Fat people huff and puff for breath after climbing stairs. This is often a result of excess fat taking up the room the lungs need to fill with air.

In addition to restricting a person's endurance, it also limits the reserve capacity between the chest and the abdomen — the only opening into the abdominal cavity.

Excess fat in the abdomen can also cause varicose veins and hemorrhoids. If you were to press hard on your leg, you would not notice that the veins stand out because the pressure prevents normal drainage. That is what happens when fat is pressing down on the veins in the lower part of the body.

There is yet another hazard associated with excess fat in the abdomen. Some doctors refuse to operate on a person until the patient loses weight, because it is more difficult to cut through the layers of fat before the surgeon gets to the diseased organ.

There is more bleeding when there is a lot of fat, and it is time-consuming to clamp those additional blood vessels. This prolongs the time a patient needs to be under anesthesia.

Also, that fat has to be pushed aside and held out of the way during the surgery. And after the surgery, that excess fat presses against the incision and can lead to hernias through the surgical scar.

But fat does not obscure places in the body. It also accumulates in the walls of the arteries, and this can be a threat to our life.

GC student in Who's Who

Jacqueline Cooper of Granite City is among 33 students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who have been selected in the 1983 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory selected the students on the basis of their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and future potential, according to Teresa Hairston, acting assistant director of the SIUE Student Activities Office.

"The 33 SIUE students join an elite group of students from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations," Hairston said. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Farm tax deadline Saturday

Saturday, Jan. 15, is the deadline for farmers to file their 1982 estimated income tax declarations with the Illinois department of Revenue.

Farmers can bypass the Jan. 15 deadline, however, by filing a state income tax return, IL-1040, and paying all tax due by March 1, 1983.

Under the state income tax Act, farmers have two choices for meeting their state income tax responsibility. They may file an estimated tax declaration (IL-1040 ES) and pay their estimated tax for 1982 by Jan. 15, and then reconcile their tax account when they file their IL-1040 by the regular April 15 deadline or, farmers may forego the estimated tax payment by filing an IL-1040 by March 1 and paying the total tax due by that date. Farmers who choose to satisfy their tax obligation by filing the IL-1040 by the March 1 deadline must be sure to mark the box on the form designated for farmers. Failure to mark this box could result in a penalty being assessed.

By state statute, farmers are individuals who derive at least two-thirds of their total gross income for that tax year from farming.

Epilepsy Council meeting tonight

The Epilepsy Council will hold its monthly meeting tonight, Jan. 13, 7 p.m., in the Community Room, Allon Square Shopping Center. Fred Firestone, attorney for the Guardianship and Advocacy Commission, will speak about legal rights in such areas as employment and social security.

The meeting is open to anyone who is interested in learning more about epilepsy. For more information, call 234-6367.

2-DAY MEETING ON PARENTS TALK LOVE

The Marriage and Family Program at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 5500 W. Ill. Route 15, Belleville, will conduct a new program entitled Parents Talk Love. The two-day session begins this Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and concludes on Sunday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Goal is to assist parents in their role as primary educators of their children, and to provide an opportunity to discuss and ask questions about sexuality issues.

Parents Talk Love is for parents who wish to deal more comfortably with their own sexuality so as to better educate their children in matters pertaining to their sexual development. The next such program will be conducted April 30 and May 1.

Former GC policeman selected St. Louis 'Driver of the Year'

Alan G. LeMaster, a Granite City resident and former local police officer, has been named "St. Louis Driver of the Year."

LeMaster was selected from among 300 other truck-driving candidates. The competition intended for St. Louis-based drivers was sponsored by Ryder Truck Rental, Inc. The honor places LeMaster as a national finalist with 19 other drivers based throughout the country.

LeMaster is credited with driving 21 years and covering approximately 1.2 million miles without receiving a ticket or being involved in an accident.

He was honored at a luncheon Jan. 6 in Jefferson City, Mo., where he was presented with an award by Missouri Gov. Christopher "Kit" Bond.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Chief of Police Ronald Veizer were expected to formally congratulate LeMaster at a meeting scheduled earlier this week.

LeMaster is an employee of Commercial Drivers, Inc., and drives for the Benjamin Moore Paint Co., St. Louis.

Barton accuses Henkhaus of 'playing politics with the taxpayers' money'

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Editor
Madison County Treasurer Henkhaus says there is a truth to statements made last week by Granite City editor Bob Barton, who accused Henkhaus Tuesday of playing politics with taxpayer money and using the power of the county treasurer's office to try and buy the editorial judgment (the county's newspapers).
Barton, who unsuccessfully opposed Henkhaus' Pression bid last November, defended his apologies Tuesday to residents of the Granite City and Edwardsville areas who were, he says, deprived of seeing the county's delinquent tax listings because of his candidacy. Barton says it is obvious to him that Henkhaus refused to turn the delinquent tax listings this year in the major paid-circulation newspapers in Granite City and Edwardsville because he was afraid of losing the major newspaper endorsement for election in November, rather than Henkhaus' newspapers which either endorsed Henkhaus or declined to make any endorsements in the race received the deers and tax list publication business from Henkhaus, he noted.

"That's not right. He thinks he is punishing the newspapers which didn't endorse him. Actually, who he is punishing is the little guy who puts down his quarter of the newspaper and then expects to find things like the delinquent tax list there. They have been there for years and years. People expect them there."

"When you want to shop,
you look down Main Street.
When you want to sell a house, it's in the Press-Record.
When you want a public notice, you check the Press-Record."
Henkhaus contended the allegation that the tax lists were kept from papers which endorsed Barton was first created by reporters.
"Endorsements of our candidacy had nothing to do with the placement," he said. Actually, he just defended

ed to test other methods of distribution in the Edwardsville and Granite City areas, he said.
Barton contended that the real estate business is in a tunnel vision to Henkhaus' action. "I don't have one and I can't find anyone who does. That's important to us in the real estate business," Barton stated, adding, "We call the county treasurer's office and they say they can't send us one."

Henkhaus agrees, saying
"We don't furnish the lists to anyone, only computer printouts to buyers at the tax sale."
Barton contended that the implications of Henkhaus' actions are much broader than the treasurer admits. He contends that newspapers which are afraid of losing the county's business are allowing county officials to seriously damage the freedoms assured by the First Amendment.
By publishing the delinquent tax list only in newspapers which endorsed Henkhaus, Henkhaus has "put all newspapers on notice that if they say anything bad about him, they will lose money," Barton contended.

"It is almost like he wants to bring back the old days of Republican newspapers and Democratic newspapers. I believe it is important to have the taxpayer system, but it is equally important to have newspapers that watch both sides of the fence," he said.

Barton said he is equally upset that newspapers which made no endorsements kept the county's publishing business. "Newspapers have a responsibility to take a stand. There shouldn't be a choice there. A newspaper which fails to make endorsements is like a soldier who refuses to put a bayonette on his rifle," he contended.

He concluded, "I regret the people of Granite City are being hurt because of my candidate and publicly ask Mick (Henkhaus) to let bygones be bygones. The election is over and it is time to go to work for the people."

Suit opposes state fund cuts

The Illinois Federation of Teachers (IFT) and the American Federation of State, County, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) filed suit Tuesday in Cook County Circuit Court seeking a temporary restraining order blocking Gov. James R. Thompson from instituting $159 million in budget cuts.

Thompson is making the cuts under legislation passed in December to give him this authority.

"The Illinois Constitution clearly requires the General Assembly to set the budget and appropriate all funds," said IFT President Robert Healey.

"We believe it is unconstitutional for the legislature to give up this power to the governor and in effect establish him as an economic dictator," Healey asserted.

"The constitutional separation of powers guarantees that budget decisions, however uncomfortable, are to be made by the legislature," said AFSCME
Illinois Executive Director Steven Cullen. "They simply cannot be delegated to the governor."

Last month, the governor cited the discovery of a substantial revenue shortfall. He asked the legislature for authority to reduce expenditures by about 2 percent, or $159 million, and the Assembly complied by passing SB 1629.

"These cuts will have a devastating impact on the state's ability to provide essential services to its most helpless citizens, especially the retarded and the mentally ill," Cullen commented.

"Cuts in education are extremely harmful," added Healey. "Our state will never have a sound economic recovery if we let our system of public education go down the drain."

"This sort of budget cutting is an irresponsible approach to keeping our state solvent. It is obvious to everyone — except perhaps our political leaders — that we must generate new revenue from a fair and equitable increase in Illinois' modest income tax."

State offices to close Jan. 14-15

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for Martin Luther King Day, Secretary of State
Jim Edgar announced today.
Downstate Driver Services Facilities outside Cook County will be closed Saturday, Jan. 15, and will reopen Tuesday, Jan. 18.
"All other offices and facilities will be closed Friday, Jan. 14, and will resume business Sunday, Jan. 17, Edgar explained.

Commercial fishermen may apply for Carlyle contracts

Commercial fishermen will again be allowed to "set up shop" and sell fish netted from Carlyle Lake during the annual commercial fishing program there from Feb. 14 to March 30, according to Bill Fritz, Department of Conservation commercial fishery biologist.

The 15 to 20 commercial fishing crews expected to fish the reservoir will be permitted to sell their catch at a whole fish in the parking lot of the Allen Branch launching ramp at Hazel St. Park, located about four miles north and two miles east of Carlyle. Fishermen will be allowed to sell portions of their catch from 8
a.m. to 6 p.m. daily
throughout the program.
Fritz said, DCC has established the following maximum prices for fish species offered for sale: carp, 35 cents per pound; buffalo, 55 cents per pound; crum and carp sucker, 40 cents per pound, and bowfin and gar, 20 cents per pound.

Commercial fishing is an important part of the resource management at Carlyle Lake, Fritz said, providing for the harvest of fish species rarely caught on under-utilized by sport angler.

Commercial fishing crews that wish to fish the 24,590-acre reservoir may apply for a contract at the Allen Branch launching ramp area the morning of Feb. 14.
Fishing is by contract only, and each contractor will be required to post a $300 application fee and conduct his operation within strict guidelines established by the department. The department reserves the right to deny participation in the program.

Fishing crews will be allowed to fish the lake from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.
Fishermen must use bar mesh trammel nets with a mesh size of 3 1/2 inches or larger. Crews are limited to setting no more than 800 yards of netting per man.

Participating commercial fishermen will be restricted to taking only "rough" fish species — carp, buffalo, crum, carpuckers, gar and bowfin. All game fishes, including the catfishes and bullheads, must be released immediately upon raising each net.

Since the commercial fishing program began at Carlyle Lake in 1974, more than six million pounds of fish have been removed from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reservoir.

Commercial fishermen wanting more information about obtaining a commercial fishing contract for the 1983 season may contact
Fritz at Hazel St. Park, Keyport Road, Carlyle,
Ill., 62231; telephone 1-504-3627.

Persons wishing to check on the availability of fish for sale during the program may call the same number between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

ALLEGED DRIVER LEAVES THE SCENE

A two-car accident at Benton and 20th streets, reported during the weekend, resulted in the arrest of one driver, Benjamin D. Snyder, 26, of 2226 Delmar Ave., who was charged with driving with an expired license, careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident with vehicle damage.
He was released upon paying a $102 cash bond.

Snyder's vehicle, northbound in the 1900 block of Benton Street, allegedly struck the rear of an auto operated by Lewis C. Spicer, 1940 Benton, which was halted at a stop sign.

Following the mishap, Snyder allegedly turned off his vehicle's headlights and
Benton. His auto was stopped by an officer in the 3000 block.

Mrs. Lillie Spicer, 63, of the Benton Street address, a passenger in the Spicer auto, reported having neck pains and told police she would seek medical attention at St.
Elizabeth Medical Center.

The tenacious full-court zone press and half-court zone defense of Granite City North proved to be too much for cross-town rival South to handle as North took the contest, 56-33.

After forcing several early turnovers with the press, North moved the ball smoothly, scoring inside and out while forcing the South squad to shoot from outside, definitely not their strong suit.

Nine first quarter points by Steeler Trish Atkinson and seven by Trina Davis spurred the Steelers to an early 21-8 lead.

Warrior coach Gary Morgan acknowledged the strengths of rival

North, saying "They have at least four good players on the floor at all times."

Midway into the first half, the officials stopped the game twice due to discrepancies in the scorebook. Both times book technicals were called against North for failing to have the correct numbers for their players in the official scorebook.

With just over two minutes remaining in the half, Steeler standout Trish Atkinson gave North fans a scare when she fell hard to the floor after scoring on a rebound. She layed grimacing in pain, holding onto her left ankle, and had to be carried from the floor.

Just before the second half started, Atkinson came onto the floor limping only slightly. She sat out the remainder of the game and was taken to the hospital after the game for X-Rays.

By the end of the first half, North had increased their lead to 32-12, allowing their opponents only four points in the second quarter.

The second half was much kinder to the Warriors as they only allowed North to increase their lead by three points in the third quarter, playing the Steelers even in the final stanza.

Offensively, the play of Trish Skinner became more intense as she hit seven of her team-high 12 points in the second half of play.

In the second half, the play of tiny dynamo Kathy Juzasz also improved. The lightning quick little point guard scored six of her eight points in the third and fourth quarters.

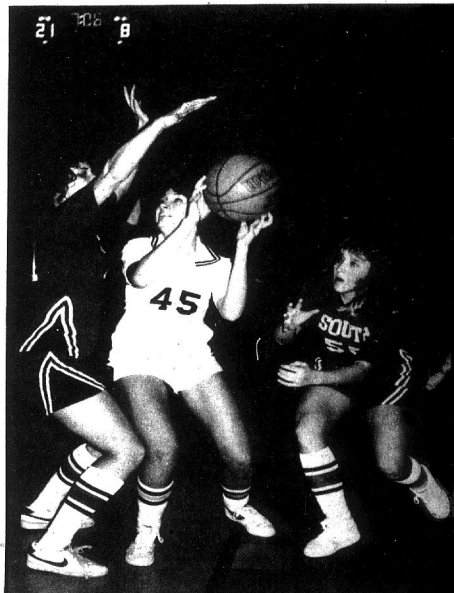

For Granite City North, it was Trish and Tina show early with Trina Davis leading the Steelers with 13 points and Trish Atkinson adding 11. Monica Fanning added 11, exciting the fans with several steals, and Lisa Lilley contributed 10.

Steeler coach Harry Cook was pleased with his team's performance. He knew before the game what his squad would have to do to win. "We have to come down, work the ball in, play our kind of game," he said. "We did that tonight."

For the Warriors, Skinner was the only one in double figures with 12. Kathy Juzasz added eight.

GRANITE CITY NORTH (56): Fountain 4, Lilley 10, Atkinson 11, Fanning 11, McClew 2, Davis 13, Rozzycki 5.

GRANITE CITY SOUTH (33): Adams 4, Thornberry 6, Skinner 12, Juzasz 8, Ifland 3.

GUARDING THE BASKET. Granite City South's Trish Skinner defends the basket against North's Trina Davis in the opening second seconds of the second quarter of Wednesday's girls' cage game. Looking on is South's Kathy Thornberry (55). The Steelers went on to win the contest 56-33.

Trojanettes edge North in physical cage game

MADISON — A slim one-point 21-20 halftime lead slipped away from Granite City North's girls' basketball team Monday night as the resurging Madison Trojanettes defeated the Steelers 43-39.

The outcome adjusts both teams' records to .500 — North is 2-2, while the win boosts Madison's tally to 1-1. From the first jump ball, it was a physical, and at times uncontrollable, contest. In all, there were 31 fouls called.

It was a game that started fast and only increased its velocity and intensity until its end nearly 90 minutes later. At times, the physical aspects of the game overshadowed any of either coach's intended strategies.

"It was a very physical game," said Madison coach Carol Cole. "There was some clean aggressive basketball out there tonight, but then too, there was some over aggressiveness out there as well," she said.

"I keep preaching to my kids that if they play good, organized, fundamental basketball, they can beat an overly aggressive team," she said. "I'm just glad they won tonight."

North's coach, Harry Cook, declined comment about the physical aspect of the game, but instead said his team didn't play up to its potential.

"Madison was ready to play tonight. We, obviously, were not," Cook said. "We didn't have all five players on the court playing at the same time."

"At halftime it was anybody's ball game. I guess Madison just wanted it more than we did," Cook concluded.

The Trojanettes raced to an early 10-2 lead before a North time out paused Madison's quickening pace. One reason for Madison's quick start was center Regina Banks. The fast-breaking Banks was the game's leading scorer with 17 points. Kim Fountain netted 13 points for the Steelers.

When play resumed after the Steeler timeout, North came out a fired up team. With just under three minutes remaining, Steeler center, Trina Davis, and guard, Monica Fanning each dropped in two points to move the Steelers back in contention at 10-6.

The Trojanettes' Angelita Dandridge picked up an offensive rebound to move Madison up by six again, but Fountain, North's inside threat grabbed a Trish Atkinson rebound to move the Steelers to within four.

North's Paula Rozzycki moved the Steelers back to within four, 14-10, as she sank a jumper in the waning seconds of the first quarter.

Just as Madison dominated in the first quarter, North controlled the second quarter.

North's Davis started the second stanza by penetrating Madison's 2-3 defense with a layup. North's Fountain put the Steelers within two, 16-14, as she battled one in from the right side.

And when North needed a steady hand to tie the game, the Steelers couldn't have had anyone better at the free throw line than Davis.

With 5:40 remaining in the half, Davis sank both ends of a one-and-one to knot the game at 16.

Slightly more than a minute later, Rozzycki, also struck from the charity stripe to move the Steelers ahead for the first time, 18-16.

Following a Banks shot at 2:45 that evened the game at 18, Fountain sank the first of two free throws to move North back up on top, 19-18. Then, with :52 seconds remaining, Fountain sank another she grabbed following a Davis shot that went awry.

Madison's Nikhya Vauters moved the Trojanettes to within a point, 21-20, in the waning minutes of the first half.

Instructions from Cook in the third quarter to slow the pace of the game seemingly fell on deaf ears. Although, both teams scored little in the third quarter, the pace remained quick.

Instead, the third quarter was riddled with missed shots and turnovers as the Madison outscored North 8-4. The third quarter point difference later proved to be the margin of victory for Madison.

The Trojanettes started the fourth quarter holding on to a narrow three-point, 28-25, lead.

Both teams got back on the scoring track in the fourth quarter, as it was both's most productive eight minutes of the game. The Steelers put together a good effort as they managed 14 points, but it still came up short of Madison's 15 points, as the Trojanettes held on for the win.

Prather wins invitational

Chiefs win, Braves third, Gators fifth

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — With Mike Lynch's championship victory over Darrin Mills of Murphysboro in the 155 pound weight class, the Prather Chiefs were assured the team championship in the 12th Annual Prather Invitational Wrestling Tournament Saturday.

Roxana's win in the 170 pound match which followed was moot, as Prather outdistanced the Vikings on points.

Prather's heavyweight, John Erickland, sweetened the Chiefs' team victory with an emotional win over Coolidge's David Kaltmeyer in the final match of the tournament.

Prather's team championship was its fourth during the dozen year event. Just one other team, Coolidge, has won more. From 1974 through 1978, the Coolidge Braves ruled supreme in the tournament. But this is 1983, and the limelight now belongs to Prather.

Coach Mike Cavanaugh's Coolidge Braves finished third, while Paul Greve's Grigsby Gators finished fifth. Sam Nesbit, Prather's first year coach, was ecstatic about his team's victory.

"I have nothing but pride for these kids. Last year when they won they had a lot of talent," he said. "This year they displayed a lot of determination and guts. They pulled through when they really needed to."

Nesbit said winning the team championship was important to his team because it may well be the last invitational wrestling tournament at Prather. The school board's current financial dilemma threatens to eliminate junior high athletics.

The kids know about the district's financial problems. Winning this year's "Learn to Skate and Play Hockey Program" meant a lot to them. Nesbit said, "I had some kids that were unexcused in the tournament get third place. That's desire."

The tournament was loaded with fine wrestling. On Saturday, during the championship session, almost every match was close.

At 82 pounds, for instance, Prather's Jeff Tindall defeated Coolidge's Randy Maykopet in an obviously tiring, draining match. Tindall finished eventually won by pinning Maykopet at 6:53 in overtime.

In another fine match, Prather's John Anderson defeated Roxana's Mark Schultz 10-4. Anderson's victory made him only the sixth two-time winner in the history of the tournament.

The last two-time winner was Kip Kristoff, last year's IHSAA state champion at 98 pounds. Kristoff is a sophomore wrestling for Bethalto.

In few words, the invitational was a huge success. Prather's athletic coordinator Al Lewis and his staff should be commended.

AHA sponsors learn-to-ice-skate sessions

The Granite City Amateur Hockey Association is sponsoring a "Learn to Skate and Play Hockey Program" starting Jan. 15 and continuing for seven weeks, at the Granite City Park District Ice Rink. The program is open to boys and girls age 5 to 10 years.

The association has donated skates, jerseys and safety equipment, so there will be a very minimal expense to the skaters for equipment.

The classes will be held from 9 to 10:15 a.m. on Saturdays by certified instructors. The Granite City Amateur Hockey Association has held this school for several years and has been very successful with training young boys and girls for this active and exciting sport.

Madison Rec. hosts tourney

The Madison Recreation Department will sponsor a 6-foot-2 and under basketball tournament Jan. 21-22 at Engelbert Hall in Madison. According to recreation director Sam Dymas, the winning team, the second place team, the consolation champion of the 16-team tournament.

Persons interested in registering a team for the tourney should contact Dymas at either 877-6418 or 451-4845.

The registration deadline is Jan. 19.

Madison rolls over Pirates; meets Venice Friday

By ROGER KRAMER

DUPLO — The Madison Trojans don't mind a breather every once in a while. Madison coach Larry Graham knew the Trojans were a much better team than the Valmeyer Pirates going into Tuesday's first round game of the Duplo Invitational Round Robin Tournament, so he decided the Trojans would take it easy on Valmeyer.

Even though the Trojans did all they could to avoid a blow-out, they still rolled over the Pirates 69-37.

"I really enjoyed this game," Graham said. "I really felt good about this game. Everyone got to play. That's what high school basketball is all about."

letting everybody play, not just winning."

Graham, knowing that the Trojans' speed game would rub defeat in the Pirates' faces, not only allowed everyone to play, he also changed the Trojans' style of play for the game.

Instead of the Trojans' typical full-court pressure, they played a half court zone for most of the game. Madison was also a little more deliberate than usual in looking for a shot.

"I knew that if we played like we usually did against Valmeyer, we would have run up the score, so we went for a change of pace instead. You have to be able to change your style of play sometimes because you have to do it against a good team when you're in trouble," Graham said.

Despite Madison's slower pace, the Trojans controlled the pace of the game. After Valmeyer tied the game at 4-all with five minutes left in the quarter, the Pirates were out of the game.

Valmeyer didn't score for four minutes while Madison built a 16-4 lead. After the lead was established, Graham removed starters Michael Young, John Hughes, Keith Wyatt, Terry Hamilton and Leroy Pryor for the entire second quarter and put in the second five. At halftime, the score was 30-15.

The starting five returned to the lineup for the third quarter. Once again, Madison didn't use a full-court press or run frequent fast breaks. Nevertheless, Madison outscored the Pirates 16-3.

The starting five left again at the start of the final quarter, and the entire Madison bench got a chance to play.

"It's good to see the bottom of the bench come in and play tonight," Graham said. "They worked as hard as everyone else did. We didn't pressure them, and they still had problems shooting the ball."

Valmeyer trailed by as much as 32 points in the fourth quarter, but the Pirates gobbled at that margin somewhat when the Trojans started substituting its second string. The Pirates stuck to their top six throughout the game.

Hughes led the Trojans with 12 points. Hamilton and Robert Bishop both scored 10 points in a game which the scoring was shared among most of the Trojans.

Meanwhile, Valmeyer's Jim Kaufmann did the bulk of his team's scoring with a game high 25 points.

Madison plays Duplo tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in second round action in the tournament. The Trojans will then take on Venice Friday at 8 p.m. in what is likely to be the title game of the round robin tournament.

"We know Duplo is capable of giving us a game because they've been able to stay with some good teams," Graham said.

Valmeyer (37): Kaufmann 11 4-7, 26, C. Crosslin 4 1-2, 9, Muert 0 1-1, T. Crosslin 0 1-1, FG 15, FT 13, PF 10.

MADISON (62): Young 1 0-0, 2, Hughes 6 0-0, 12, Hamilton 4 2-10, Pryor 4 2-3, Valentine 0 2-2, Silas 1 0-0, 2, Bishop 5 0-0, 10, Crowder 1 2-2, Brown 1 0-0, 2, Bradley 3 0-0, 6, Smith 2 0-0, 4, FG 27, FT 8, PF 12.

Red Devils coast to win

By ROGER KRAMER

of the Press-Record

DUPLO — Like any other basketball coach, Venice's Ken Perkins hopes his players never took part in a seemingly unimportant game for a more important one in the future.

Hope is one thing. Reality is another. Venice, which played a lackluster first game in the Freeburg Holiday Tournament two weeks ago, opened the tournament in much the same manner. The Red Devils defeated Duplo 37-51 Tuesday in the first round of the tournament.

Dupo, 2-10 for the season, should not have been a match for the 12-0 Red Devils. However, thanks to poor play on Venice's part and desire on Duplo's part, the Tigers made a battle out of the game.

Perkins admitted the Red Devils were looking past Tuesday's game to Friday's game with Madison. Venice defeated Madison 50-49 on Dec. 3, and are hoping to beat the Trojans for the second straight time.

Venice plays Madison at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the game which will likely determine the tournament championship. Before that, the Red Devils play Valmeyer tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m.

"I think we did look past Duplo," Perkins said. "You can't look past everybody, and when you do, you have to wake up at halftime. We didn't even do that. We were lucky we were ahead at halftime, or it would have been curtains for us."

Venice lead by five at the end of the first quarter, and it would appear the Red Devils would run to a rout. Apparently, the Red Devils thought so too.

Instead of keeping up strong pressure and good shooting, Venice did just the opposite. Instead of increasing their lead, the Red Devils' lead decreased to 29-25.

"Some people were doing their job. (Keith) Marchbanks, (Eddie) Salmond and (Phillip) White did a pretty good job, but some of the others weren't doing so well."

"At no time in the game did any more than three players play a good team game. There were always a couple of players who weren't doing their jobs out there," Perkins said.

Venice got out of its rut momentarily in the third quarter. The Red Devils held Duplo scoreless for two and a half minutes while White made two backdoor lay-ups and Marchbanks and Terson Ware scored to give Venice a 39-27 lead.

However, Venice headed straight for the rut in the second part of the quarter. Venice managed to get to 12-point leads twice in the fourth quarter, but Dupo cut them down both times. In the final minute of the game, Duplo managed to cut a 12-point lead in half for the final margin.

"It was a poor effort on our part. We didn't execute on defense. We did not shoot very well. The fast break didn't come around until the third quarter. They (Duplo) came out and wanted it more than we did," Perkins said.

"It was a total lack of mental preparation for us," Perkins added. On the other hand, Duplo coach Don Gerke was pleased with the Tigers' performance.

"We were well pleased with our effort. We made a few mistakes which cost us the game, but we played a good game," Gerke said.

White led Venice with 16 points, and Salmond added 12 points. Jeff Harries led Duplo with 15 points. Kenny Hunt added 12 points and Robin Wilson scored 10 points.

Gridiron enthusiasts respond

By AL BARNES

of the Press-Record

The day after my feature story about Emmett (Mutt) Rensing and the brilliant 1936 Granite City High School football team, one of the five calls to my home was from the Old Bench Warner, Bob Burnes of the Globe-Democrat.

Burnes said he remembered vividly the outstanding playing of Rensing for the Bills of St. Louis University. He, along with many other reporters covering college football for St. Louis area papers in those years, couldn't figure out why Rensing wasn't ever allowed to carry the ball, but was always used for blocking.

"Everyone in the St. Louis area knew that Rensing was the best high school ball carrier before enrolling at St. Louis U," Burnes explained.

"Of course," he added, "we all knew that Mutt was the complete and total team player. So, when he was called upon to block, that's what he did. And, he was one of the best I ever saw."

One of the other callers took the opportunity to "confess" a misplay he had committed in Rensing's 1936 prep year, but had asked that his name not be used. "I was guilty of a holding penalty in our game against Madison that nullified a 60-yard scoring play that Mutt racked up in that game. Fortunately for me and the team, he scored on a five-yard plunge over the right side of our line which was opened up by Kalert at right tackle."

That tackle's name was Ralph Kalert, now deceased. One of the callers was from a former, but much younger football player who had represented Granite City High on the gridiron: "I don't think that you can pick one team as best in nearly one hundred years of football history." He pointed out that the '36 Warriors, who played both defense and offense, could well have been the best for that period, but "now in the age of so much specializing, 'I'm sure that a better offensive eleven as well as defensive team, could be picked."

He may well have a good point.

Two of the other men who called in asked that we locate a team picture of the 1936 squad and print it. So, here it is.

YMCA boxers, meet N. County

The Tri-City Area YMCA Boxing Club is scheduled to compete against the North County Boxing Club on Friday, Jan. 21 at 7:30 p.m. The meet will be held at the 71 Sportsman's Club on River.

View at Bellfontaine. Admission is $4 per person. John Beckovich, head of the Y's team, said that four area boxers will be competing: Bob Jones, 16 at 140 lbs., Richard Plants, 16, at 115 lbs., Charles Farrell, 16, at 135 lbs., and Leroy Sloan, 12, at 100 lbs. The fighters have been training for more than two years.

Beckovich said that he is particularly pleased with the efforts of Jones who has won all his previous fights.

"Jones definitely has professional potential," Beckovich said. "I think he'll go all the way."

Beckovich added that Jones and Plants may be competing in a Golden Gloves match in March. Further information on the North County meet can be obtained by calling Beckovich at the YMCA, 876-7200.

Softball organizational meeting

An organizational meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 13, for coaches and managers whose teams wish to play softball in the Madison Recreational League this summer.

Mrs. Curless is honored

Mrs. Linda Curless was guest of honor at a baby shower given, this week, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Modlin, 3236 Rodger Ave.

Hostesses were Kathy and Daria Modlin, and Debbie and Laurie Finch.

Games were played followed by the honoree opening her gifts. Refreshments were served, by the hostesses, to Amy Modlin, Marcel Hughes, Kathy Poe, Eileen Nelson, Kathryn Heid, Peggy Turnbull, Bernice Beavan, Alberta Ethington, Eva Gibson, Alice Curless Gibson, Pam Turner, Sherry Wyde, Juanita Dockery, Carol Mouldon and Wilma Finch.

Mrs. Druhe hosts club

Mrs. Rose Druhe entertained the Bunko-Elites Club, last week, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Partney.

During the social event the birthday of Mrs. May Ebling was celebrated and she was presented with a gift and decorated cake. Those winning prizes in the games were Helen Lipchik, Mrs. Ebling, Mrs. Partney, the hostess and Leona Delaloye. Also present was Mrs. Julia Portell.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brayer

Brayer-Busch

St. Louis University College Church was the scene of the afternoon wedding on Oct. 30, of Miss Sharon L. Busch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Patrick (Cathy) Busch, 25 Bernadine Lane, and Mark Jean Brayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Edith) Brayer of Creve Coeur, Mo.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Virgil Mank, the Rev. Henry Schmidt and the Rev. Kenneth Becker.

Friends of the groom from Des Moines, Iowa, provided the nuptial music which included, "My Sweet Lady," "One Hand, One Heart," "Perhaps Love," "The Wedding Song," "Earthen Vessels," "Prayer of St. Francis," "Be Not Afraid," and "Sing to the Mountains."

The bridal couple were escorted down the aisle by their parents.

Mrs. Nancy Deason served as matron of honor with bridesmaids, Anita and Carole Busch, sisters of the bride, and Anne Marie Brayer, the groom's sister.

The groom chose Jeffery Yates as best man, Pat Brayer, a brother of the groom, Tom Busch, the bride's brother, and Paul Jones served as groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Michael and John Busch, brothers of the bride.

Becky Deason was the flower girl and Miss Rhonda Jackson and Miss Becky Jackson presided over the guest book.

Guests were received by the newlywed couple at a buffet reception held in Engelbert Hall in Madison.

A 1972 graduate of Granite City High School and Certificate Program for Respiratory Therapy at Bellevue Area College, the bride is presently employed at the Cardio Pulmonary Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The groom was graduated in 1971 from Pattonville High School and in 1976 from St. Louis University with a degree in Chemistry. He currently works as a district executive for the Boy Scout of America, Cahokia Mound Council.

The couple is presently residing in Collinsville after a honeymoon trip to the New England states.

Circle hears Woodie Lynn

Members of Sarah Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church heard devotion on the life of Sarah, given by Mrs. Woodie Lynn, last week in the church parlors.

Mrs. Lynn explained Sarah was the wife of Abraham and since she was a beautiful woman, Abraham referred to her as his sister to avoid the practice of the princes who took beautiful women for themselves. She was in truth his half sister but in that era it was not uncommon for near relatives to marry.

Sarah lived to be 127 years old, Mrs. Lynn added.

Mrs. Lynn served as hostesses for the day with Mrs. Lynn giving the table blessing. All present repeated the Global Prayer for Peace.

Mrs. Meyer distributed membership cards received from the General Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church, followed by the Least Coin lesson presented by Mrs. Clara Solroff.

It was announced the members made 54 sick calls during the month and that Mrs. Geraldine Thomas is a patient at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis.

The general meeting of the Women's Society will convene at 7 p.m. today and the main topic of discussion will be on the forthcoming fall bazaar. It was announced.

Mrs. Pearl Albom submitted the treasurer's report. Plans were discussed for the United Methodist Women's Sunday set for Jan. 23 featuring Captain Barbara Salisbury of the Salvation Army as guest speaker.

In closing the 17 members recited the Lord's Prayer.

Fidelity hosts potluck

A monthly potluck for members of the Fidelity Class of Nameoki United Methodist Church was hosted during the weekend by Mr. and Mrs. Rod Key, Mrs. Neil Talley and Mrs. Bess Rucker, at the church.

Opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Tharah Erney and after dinner Frank Carroll, president, conducted a business meeting. Burl Russell gave the meditation.

Devotions on the topic of "New Territory" was given by Mrs. Irene Key and during the session movies were shown by Mrs. Talley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jaimet will host the Feb. 12 meeting. It was announced. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Gladys Russell.

To open the regular session the worthy matron and worthy patron led the members in reciting the pledge to the flag and then introduced past matrons, Evelyn Harris, Helen Love, Kay Pomeroy, Marie Woodard, Marian Ozanich, all of New Hope Chapter.

Also Betty Ebrecht and Dorothy Watkins, both of Granite Chapter 659 and worthy patrons, Herman Harris, Martin Love, Max Merz of New Hope, and Belva Edwards and Ed Edwards, worthy matron and worthy patron of Bethalto Chapter.

Women's Division to hear historian

Mrs. Alma Romann Beckman will be the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Women's Division of the Tri Cities Area Chamber of Commerce scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 20, at Bill Burns Cafeteria, 1920 Edison Ave., according to an announcement by Mary Jesse, president.

The guest speaker will review a history of the Romann family dating back to the time when her grandfather, John Romann immigrated from Switzerland to this country in 1854.

He settled in the Old Six Mile area, now Granite City. Mrs. Beckman will exhibit several antique items which are at least 75 years old and have been in her family for generations.

The cocktail hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by a buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Jesse noted. Reservations must be made no later than Tuesday, Jan. 18, by calling the Chamber of Commerce office at 876-6400, the president added.

New Hope Chapter 432 plans chicken dinner

Worthy Matron Shirley Schillinger and Worthy Patron Ed Schillinger announced plans for a chicken and dumpling dinner at the initial meeting of 1983 of New Hope Chapter 432, Order of the Eastern Star.

The fund raising project is scheduled for March 20 at the Masonic Temple and is open to the public. Tickets will be available from any member of the chapter, Mrs. Schillinger added.

To open the regular session the worthy matron and worthy patron led the members in reciting the pledge to the flag and then introduced past matrons, Evelyn Harris, Helen Love, Kay Pomeroy, Marie Woodard, Marian Ozanich, all of New Hope Chapter.

Also Betty Ebrecht and Dorothy Watkins, both of Granite Chapter 659 and worthy patrons, Herman Harris, Martin Love, Max Merz of New Hope, and Belva Edwards and Ed Edwards, worthy matron and worthy patron of Bethalto Chapter.

Special guests for the evening were Clyde and Mae Lee of Agnes Wickfield Chapter in Chesterfield, Ill.

Officer reports were read as was a letter from Margaret Kish, a resident of the OES Home in Macon, Georgia, who extended appreciation for Christmas gifts sent to the home by the local chapter.

Resolutions of respect were read for Elva Fowler and Charles Scarborough.

The worthy matron announced the Walton Chapter sent an invitation to New Hope to attend its Jan. 17 meeting.

Mrs. Schillinger also reviewed visits made to shut-in members during the holiday season, and Belva Edwards, instructor, spoke on membership requirements.

After the meeting refreshments were served in the dining room with the worthy patron offering the blessing.

Hebrews 4:14 - "Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession."

"When we know that we have a great high priest and that He is Jesus, the Son of God, then we have confidence that He is the highest we can go when we come to God."

The writer of Hebrews states that He is passed or ascended into Heaven. A study of God's Word reveals that Jesus came into this world to destroy the works of the devil (Heb. 2:14). Since God does not fail at anything He is able to do. We conclude that Jesus did not go back to Heaven until Satan was defeated.

Jesus did not stand before His heavenly Father and declare, "I have failed." When He ascended upon high, He took captivity captives (Eph. 4:8). He spoiled principalities and powers, made a show of them openly - triumphing over them (Col. 2:15). No wonder David wrote in Psalm 24:9 "Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors, and the King of glory shall come in." All praise to our Lord Jesus Christ who encourage us to hold fast our profession of faith. When we do, we will bring glory to God.

Hold fast, today.

Venice subway repairs near end, may reopen next week

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Work on the Venice underpass on Broadway is almost finished and, weather cooperating, the subway may be open to traffic in a week or 10 days, members of the Venice City Council were advised by Mayor Tyrone Echols at Tuesday night's meeting.

"The word is 'Go,' and that means we might be back in business in a week to a week-and-a-half," the mayor stated.

"The work is progressing pretty well and they've done some pouring that's on the center curbs," he added. Venice Street Superintendent Tom Scaturro said curbing on the outside curb is being poured today. Paving of the roadway beneath the underpass already is completed.

The $983,812 major repair project at the underpass, located on Broadway in Venice and leading to Illinois Route 3 and the McKinley Bridge, involved the construction of a deep well drainage system, sewer repairs and installing eighth of a mile of concrete pavement on Route 3.

The Illinois Department of Transportation awarded the repair and improvement contract to H. H. Hall Construction Co. of East St. Louis last August.

Other portions of the extensive repair work included installation of a 400-foot-long main drainage pipe and a 28-inch pipe to remove the surface water.

Preliminary plans called for the underpass repairs to be finished and the subway reopened by Thanksgiving.

The Venice underpass, which carries a large volume of vehicular traffic under several railroad lines to the McKinley Bridge and Route 3, has been closed since the drainage system collapsed beneath the subway, along with the pavement, July 10.

Traffic has been routed over Klein and Bissell streets for the past six months.

Both streets, designated state detour routes, have sustained damage from the heavy traffic volume, including large trucks, and are scheduled for repairs after the underpass repairs.

Current progress on the installation of cable television in Venice was not quite as optimistic, although Mayor

Echols said the CATV Cable System is working with Illinois Power Company in designating which poles are needed to route the cable.

A representative of the cable company is providing a status report on the installation project at Tuesday night's council session, but apparently was not available.

Neither has a decision been announced on whether a head-in tower or business office will be located in Venice, a provision mandated by the city in granting the franchise, it was learned.

In other business, the council heard that fire loss in the city of Venice amounted to $33,100 during 1982, including $25,300 in property loss and $7,800 to contents.

Based on the city's population, the total amount shown as property loss of $25,300.

Included in the year-end report, submitted for the volunteer fire department by Gary R. Wallace, secretary, showed 20 calls were made to residential fires, 13 to grass and rubbish fires, and 11 to vehicular fires.

The department also responded to 10 fires at industrial firms, 10 rescue missions, two wash-downs situations, two blazes at garages and made 12 out-of-town responses. Only two false alarms were turned in during the 12 months.

Twelve volunteer firemen responded on average to each call, it was noted.

Venice Police Chief Harris Smith reported 39 men and four women were arrested during December on a total of 64 charges, mostly involving city and state traffic violations. No juveniles were arrested in the same period.

A check for $1,489 was received from Willard Portell, circuit court clerk, for fines collected in December, he said.

Permission was granted Alfred Carl Lambul to located a mobile home on property at 1221 Calhoun St.

The council authorized City Clerk Ralph D. Bravley to advertise for bids for new stop signs.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin asked if the lock could be changed on the rifle range beneath the Venice City Garage to better control its use. He noted that most of the lights in the range area have been shot out.

Chief Smith replied that he now has the key to the firing range after being informed of the damage.

Say stock fees split

At the trial this week of an aide to Thomas R. Brimberry, testimony indicated that Leonard Bednar, 39, of Florissant split commissions with Brimberry on 10 key accounts at the Stix & Co. stock brokerage, U.S. District Judge John F. Nangle is presiding.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Terry Adelman said the accounts were not properly collateralized by millions of dollars in Brimberry's defense, made no opening statement.

Daniel O'Connell, a former Stix treasurer, testified that the board of directors was told as early as May 1978 that a small number of accounts owed the firm $11 million. O'Connell said that when he talked to the board, Bednar spoke up and said he was monitoring the accounts.

An employee of the now defunct storage yard yesterday recalled Bednar preparing an account card for J.A. Miller in the summer of 1981 when the lawyer left the firm. The card gave the First National Bank of Granite City as a reference, but a bank officer testified that the bank had no record of any such card in name.

Another Stix employee said she backdated the card to 1977, but Bednar told grand jurors he found the card in 1977 while taking information from Brimberry. The Miller account was one of the 10 that allegedly were inflated in value with phony stock.

Bednar is the first to stand trial on charges related to the Stix collapse. Jerry Maeras of Madison has pleaded guilty, and other trials are scheduled.

The trial of James J. Massa of Collinsville was postponed Tuesday from Feb. 28 until March 21 at the request of his lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, who cited a conflict in his trial schedule. Brimberry's trials are set for Feb. 24 in Alton and Jan. 31 in St. Louis.

Michael O'Rourke, a Securities and Exchange Commission examiner, said Tuesday that in the final days of the brokerage, stock valued at $36 million could not be found by federal investigators.

Bednar is accused of lying to the grand jury and maintaining false books and records. If convicted on all four counts, he could face 20 years in prison. O'Rourke said the 10 accounts under suspicion were margin accounts, in which a client was to post half the purchase price of securities and Stix lent the other half. The securities were to serve as collateral for the firm's loan to the customer.

'Las Vegas' for charity in Pontoon

The Pontoon Beach Lionesse Club will sponsor a "Las Vegas Night" at the Madison Lions Home, 810 Madison Ave., at 7 p.m. on Saturday, announced Lionesse President Judy Wasson.

"Proceeds from the event will be used for community charity as well as Lions of Illinois Foundation of Sight and Sound."

The Pontoon Beach Lions are working with the Lionesse. "Both clubs are looking forward to a lot of fun and excitement in this new venture," according to Mrs. Wasson.

Following the games, an auction will be held giving the participants a chance to buy from a large selection of prizes that have been donated by local food stores, service stations, other merchants, Lionesse and friends.

Prizes include a black and white television, toaster oven, afghans, a baby quilt, hair cuts, bowling games, blender and other items. The public is being invited to attend.

6 children hurt in church van

Six youngsters sustained injuries in an accident involving a church van at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at Johnson and Nameoki Roads. None was seriously hurt and no others in the vehicle escaped injury.

The van, belonging to Trinity Park Baptist Church, was operated by Eugene D. Kierpaul, 30, of 2224 Orville Ave., who reported being stopped on Johnson Road behind a four-wheel drive truck when his foot slipped off the brake and the van struck the rear of the truck. The truck was driven by Kenneth R. Rapp, 17, of Terrace Lane.

Passengers in the van, who were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by church members, included: Holly Messmore, 8, of 1925 Fifth St., Madison; Marshall Coleman, 11, of 1050 Washington Ave., Madison; Terry Cleverling, 13, of 1925 Fifth St., Madison; Cristy Sleight, 12, of 1927 Fifth St., Madison and Wayne Taylor, 11, 1937 Fifth St., Madison. Christine Kierpaul, 3, of 2224 Orville Ave., was taken to the hospital by her father, the report states. All the youngsters were treated at the medical center and were released.

Free film shows

An in-depth look into the issues of El Salvador will be explored in the video show, "El Salvador: Another Vietnam," to be shown Jan. 17-21 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The free shows are scheduled in the Video Lounge, on the second floor of the University Center. Showtimes are: Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:30 and 1:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 and 1:30 p.m., and Monday and Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Pack 14 plans ham-bean dinner

Cub Scout Pack 14 will sponsor a ham and bean dinner from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Jan. 15 at the Good Shepherd Church, 3021 National Ave.

The menu will include ham and beans, old fashioned cornbread, hot peppers, corn slaw, a cold drink, coffee and dessert at a cost of $2 per person and $1 for children under 10 years of age.

Those attending may purchase tickets at the side door of the church and for more information those interested are advised to call 877-7027.

AUTO RECOVERED

An 1977 auto belonging to Susan Worley, 2504 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported stolen from the housing complex parking area at 9:20 a.m. Tuesday, was recovered by an officer 30 minutes later in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue.

Signup for assessment reductions, Homestead

Granite City Township residents are being reminded that they now may sign up for property tax reductions, says Von Dee Cruise, tax assessor.

Cruise said senior citizens now may sign up at his office in the basement of city hall for the Homestead Exemption to reduce their property taxes. The Homestead exemption must be applied for each year.

Now also is the time for mobile home owners to sign up for reductions. Property exempt from property taxes, including churches and not-for-profit organizations, may apply now for tax-free status. These also must be applied for annually.

Cruise said persons having questions about the property taxes, assessments and reductions to which they are entitled may visit his office in city hall or call 877-6150.

DRIVER HURT

Vehicles operated by John F. Walwachs, 2723 Harvey Place and Gary W. Radefeld, 2420 Edison Ave., were involved in a collision at 11:20 a.m. Tuesday at 501st and Center streets.

Walwachs, 31, sustained a minor injury and declined medical attention. He was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way.

Have scientists found chemical trigger of stress?

By WARREN FROELICH

A chemical messenger found in the brain may be telling the rest of the body to tense up, boosting blood pressure and pulse, while increasing anxiety, depression and anger.

According to new studies, the chemical called acetylcholine, may be responsible for orchestrating various hormones in the body responsible for stress. If so, scientists could combat the various physical and psychological disorders linked to stress by blocking the actions of acetylcholine.

"What we're proposing is that acetylcholine is a major hormone in the regulation of stress, demonstrating a likely role in a new mode of therapy," said Dr. Morton Prizner, a UCSD pharmacy professor and director of the Specialized Center of Research in Hypertension, a five-year program funded by the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute to study the link between brain function and hypertension.

John J. Ishum, 24, of 2206 Edw. St., Belleville, was charged with two counts of battery, resisting a peace officer, criminal damage to property, reckless conduct, not having a Firearm's Owners Identification Card (FOID) and disorderly conduct.

Ishum was set at $1,750 and a mittimus was issued. Ishum was transferred Tuesday by sheriff's deputies to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

A second man at Ishum's home, Jeffrey L. Parker, 22, of Belleville, was booked on a state charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty to the charge Monday and was fined $75.

The arrests were made after neighbors called and reported a fight taking place at the Ishum home. Officers responded and found several people standing around a pickup truck at Edna Street and Edwardsville Road.

Chris Dickerson of Belleville, driver of the truck, said the group had been at a party at the Ishum home, where a shouting match developed between Dickerson and Parker over a woman.

There was no physical violence until Ishum joined in the argument and allegedly struck Dickerson and an East St. Louis woman on the face, officers learned.

Dickerson suffered a bloody nose and the woman had a swollen cheek, police said. Ishum, who was allegedly got a weapon and made threats against the couple and another man from East St. Louis.

Police were told the trio got into the truck, drove north on Edna and that Ishum was fired twice at the truck using a "long" gun, before the vehicle could leave. Two holes were noted in the truck grill, officers said.

The out-of-town residents had halted the truck at Edna Street and Edwardsville Road, apparently to wait for other friends who came to the party in a second vehicle, police said.

While an officer was talking with Parker, the latter became agitated with Dickerson and the woman and allegedly began using loud and profane language. He was arrested to prevent further problems, police said.

Ishum said nothing had taken place at his home and declined to give information. When advised he was under arrest for disorderly conduct, Ishum slammed the house door, almost injuring an officer's hand, and a pursuing march ensued before the arrest was made, police alleged.

A spent rifle cartridge was found in front of the driveway at Edna St., and another on the sidewalk in front of the dwelling. A live round was retrieved from the front yard, police said.

A woman at the Ishum house declined to allow officers to enter to recover the weapon. It was noted.

Have scientists found chemical trigger of stress?

San Diego School of Medicine. "We also discovered that the more labile their blood pressure was — the more it tended to bounce around — the more it would go up once you gave the physostigmine challenge."

Until now, most hypertension work has been directed toward other chemical messengers such as angiotensin, a common hormone found in the brain and blood, and norepinephrine, a transmitter that produces rapid pulse and constricted blood vessels. Acetylcholine, on the other hand, has been largely overlooked since the chemical in the body slows pulse and causes blood vessels to expand.

However, acetylcholine in the brain, as animal experiments and Janowsky's work indicate, seems to act in just the opposite way as the body chemical. Janowsky believes this seemingly paradox that can be explained if acetylcholine triggers the activity of chemicals like norepinephrine.

"It probably has to do with the fact that in the blood pressure system, there are probably receptors for acetylcholine and norepinephrine neurons in the brain," Janowsky said. "These are the neurons that control the sympathetic nervous system (part of the nervous system that controls bodily functions that are consciously directed) that goes out to increase blood pressure and pulse."

Aerobic dance class at BAC

Get into shape with aerobic dance and exercise at Belleville Area College.

Three 16-week classes in aerobics will be offered during the spring semester at the low tuition of $20 per class.

Aerobic exercise helps increase blood pressure, and works to increase the efficiency of your cardiovascular system.

Aerobics will be offered from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville. Aerobics and aerobic dancing will be offered from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays at the General Studies Center, 1288, at the main campus. Registration also will be from 4 to 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays in the Registrar's Office, room 2306, at the main campus. Registration ends Wednesday, Jan. 19.

Students may register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Fridays at the Registrar's Office, room 2306, at the main campus. Registration ends Wednesday, Jan. 19.

Seek citizen utility board in Illinois

A push will be made in 1983 to form a Citizens Utility Board (CUB). It would provide full-time attorneys, accountants and engineers to represent residential utility customers at rate-making hearings before the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC).

"Right now, the typical Illinois consumer pays more in utility bills every year than in taxes to the state government," said Patrick Quinn, spokesman.

"The purpose of the board would be to even up the odds by giving consumers the resources and organization to challenge utility requests for rate hikes."

The CUB would be funded through voluntary donations.

Utility companies would be required to enclose information about how to join the board in their monthly bills to customers.

Any consumer could join the Illinois CUB by sending in a $3 annual membership fee.

It would be patterned after a similar board in Wisconsin which has a membership of 70,000 consumers and has intervened in 30 rate-making cases.

Quinn said the ICC is considering a petition to establish an Illinois CUB by administrative rule. Four hearings have been held on the proposal and a fifth is planned.

In addition, a bill to establish an Illinois board by statute will be introduced in the General Assembly.

The CUB idea will be placed on many ballots across the state in municipal elections April 12.

Chicago voters approved an advisory referendum on the board proposal by a 4-1 margin on Nov. 2.

The entire membership would be eligible to elect the board of directors of the utility board and hire its staff.

Six of the 14 board members would be elected from the First Judicial District (Cook County) and two from each of the state's remaining judicial districts.

Quinn said that "by pooling a large number of small contributions, the board would have expertise and financial resources not available to current consumer advocates and community groups, who are overwhelmed by the thousands of dollars utilities spend to gain rate increases."

Career Day set Jan. 20 at SIUE

Students and the general public will have opportunities to obtain the latest career and job market information, Thursday, Jan. 20, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Representatives of approximately 30 businesses and industries will participate in Career Information Day, sponsored by University Placement Services and the SIUE student chapter of the American Society for Personnel Administration (ASPA).

The companies, representing service, technical and manufacturing industries, government, retail merchandising, armed forces, health care, and others, know what skills they are looking for and can help individuals plan a curriculum or a career, according to Jeanne Noeth, vice president of ASPA and coordinator of Career Information Day.

Informal table displays and information booths will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Goshen Lounge in the University Center. Participants will include: McDonnell-Douglas, Armour Dial, MCI Telecommunications, Edison Bros. Stores, Olin Corp., Union Electric, Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers, and Southland 7-11 Stores.

For additional information, interested persons may contact University Placement Services at 618-692-2800. Admission is free and open to the public.

LIVESAVING COURSE

Beginning Feb. 5, the Tri-City Area YMCA will be offering Red Cross advanced lifesaving. The course will meet Saturday afternoons for 10 weeks. Individuals must be 15 years of age and able to pass the Red Cross prerequisites. Registration deadline will be Jan. 29. For further information, swimmers may contact the YMCA at 676-7200.

Hearing Tuesday on auto insurance requirements

The Illinois Insurance Laws Study Commission and the Illinois Motor Vehicle Laws Commission will hold a joint public hearing in Chicago Tuesday, Jan. 18, on legislative proposals for compulsory motor vehicle liability insurance.

Both partisan legislative commissions will take testimony from proponents and opponents of statewide mandatory automobile insurance. The public is being invited to testify.

Representative Richard A. Mantino (D-Spring Valley) is chairman of the Insurance Commission. Senator Charles Chew Jr. (D-Chicago), and Representative Clarence E. Neff (R-Stronghurst) are co-chairmen of the Motor Vehicle Commission.

The commissions regularly screen legislative proposals dealing with their respective study areas and make specific recommendations to the House and Senate after public hearings.

The subject has been considered in a series of more than 30 bills offered in the Illinois General Assembly since 1971, but none has been adopted, including measures introduced in the recent session.

Thirty-one states have enacted laws requiring all owners of motor vehicles to buy and maintain insurance as a condition for registering their vehicles.

Indiana and New Mexico recently approved mandatory vehicle insurance laws, effective Jan. 1 this year in Indiana and Jan. 1, 1984, in New Mexico.

Proponents believe that mandatory insurance will make compensation available for wrongful injuries or property damage in motor vehicle accidents.

Opponents argue that enforcement of such a proposal would be ineffective and too costly and possibly increase pressure on government to further regulate or even supplant private insurance.

The Illinois Department of Insurance has reported that 32 percent of all motorists in Chicago and 33 percent in Cook County, excluding Chicago, are uninsured.

Statewide, the total is 21 percent of all registered passenger vehicles.

Since 1938, Illinois has had a financial responsibility law requiring persons who have failed to satisfy a judgment for any liability from a previous accident to furnish "proof of financial responsibility for the future."

Penalties for violation of mandatory insurance laws vary in certain states. The offense is classified as a misdemeanor in 21 states. Penalties range from fines of $50 to $1,000, imprisonment from 30 days to one year and revocation or suspension of vehicle and driver registration licenses.

The hearing will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday, in Room 1818 State of the Illinois Building, 160 North LaSalle Street, Chicago.

Red Cross supplies more than 'donuts' to flooding victims

The Granite City Rotary Club has contributed $524 to the American Red Cross Disaster Flood Relief Fund. The club's donation will be added to the $2.9 million the Red Cross has spent aiding flood and weather victims in Illinois and Missouri, according to Gwenda O'Guin, director, Tri-City Chapter.

"In the Bi-State area, December, 1982, will long be remembered by the thousands left homeless by the tornado in St. Charles and New Baden and the vast devastation wrought by the floods in Missouri," commented Miss O'Guin.

"The majority of families in the Times Beach, Arnold and Fenton areas had no flood insurance. Coupled with this tragedy is the fact that many of these people are also unemployed," she said, underlining the need for aid.

The director said the public is not always aware of the exact helping role the American Cross plays during times of disaster. She said the role is a very active one—offering victims more than the "mug of coffee and donut" image some people would believe.

"At the time of impact, disaster centers are established to provide immediate housing, food and clothing for those left homeless," she stated in an appreciation letter to the Rotary Club. "In the Missouri areas of Times Beach, Arnold and Fenton, several hundred Red Cross volunteers have worked one-on-one with families and individuals, ascertaining their immediate needs."

Each worker uses a standard emergency assistance list. Financial assistance is given on a uniform basis, according to their disaster-caused needs. Disbursing orders are written to various stores for the purchase of food, clothing, cleaning supplies, linens, cooking and eating utensils and, in some cases, furniture and electrical appliances.

"All financial assistance given is a grant. It is not a loan," Miss O'Guin stated.

Nor is the $2.9 million flood assistance given this far by the Red Cross a final figure. Disaster relief offices will remain open and will continue to operate as long as there is a need, according to the local director.

"The slogan of the United Way is, 'Together it works, the United Way.' Because of (the Rotary's) contribution and thousands of others, together with the support of all United Way Agencies throughout the United States, the Red Cross has become one of America's major forces in disaster relief," Miss O'Guin concluded.

Watergate committee
The Senate established the Select Committee on the United Way. Because of the (Rotary's) contribution and thousands of others, together with the support of all United Way Agencies throughout the United States, the Red Cross has become one of America's major forces in disaster relief," Miss O'Guin concluded.

Homemakers meetings scheduled Jan. 17-19

Alice Stille, Alhambra, first vice-president of the Madison County Home Economics Extension Council, will preside at a program planning session on Jan. 18 at 9:30 a.m. at the Extension office in Edwardsville.

Committees will study program needs in family life, effective parenting, food and nutrition, health, aging, public policy and consumer education. Madison County statistical data, as it relates to the family and community, will be discussed by Geraldine Bower, associate Extension adviser.

Committee chairmen include: Frances Griebel, Marine; Carol Baumann, Highland; Helen King and Hazel Smith, Madison; Eunice Fore and Maureen Betts, Edwardsville; Alice Ferguson, Hartford; Martha McIlroy, Granite City; Ruth Meyer, Worden; and Midge Janas, Collinsville.

"Watch Out! Is It Too Good To Be True?", a lesson on consumer fraud, will be taught by Homemakers Extension Association unit local leaders this week. Meetings include: Monday, Jan. 17, Creative Women, 7 p.m. at the home of Joanna Spencer, 3204 Newell Drive, Granite City, and Wednesday, Jan. 19, Venice, Madison, 1 p.m. at the Venice Recreation Center, Venice.

PLEADS INNOCENT, MITTIMUS ISSUED

Appearing at the Granite City court at 2:15 p.m. Monday, Raymond M. Israel, 29, of 2442 Adams St., pleaded innocent to charges contained in three warrants alleging theft under $300, criminal damage to property and theft from a coin-operated machine. He was arrested earlier Monday.

Bond was set at $6,000. A mittimus was issued and Israel was transferred Tuesday to Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Survey seeks data on job training

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of January 17-22. Marvin L. Postma, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Kansas City, announced today.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the January survey will include others concerning occupation mobility, job tenure and job training. These questions will be asked of employees and experienced unemployed persons.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers will visit households in this area.

Eastwood films at SIUE Tuesday

Clint Eastwood will appear on the screen Tuesday, Jan. 18, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with the showing of two of his films.

The PG-rated films, "A Fistful of Dollars" and "Kelly's Heroes," will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Deja Vu Room of the University Center. Admission is $1 for SIUE students with identification and $1.50 for non-students.

In "A Fistful of Dollars," Eastwood plays a cowboy who has a deadly aim. The film is directed by Sergio Leone.

In the second feature, "Kelly's Heroes," Eastwood shares the screen with Telly Savalas. The plot of the movie centers around the duo trying to steal $15 million in gold from the Germans.

The films are sponsored by the Student Program Board. For more information, interested persons may contact the SPB at (618) 692-2617.
